FDR, LABOR CHIEFS MEET

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—Committees representing the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations meet with President Roosevelt today to begin negotiations to end labor's three-year-old civil war.

The six members of the two committees, secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and the President will sit down together at the White House at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to make a new and vigorous appeal for peace and reiterate his declaration that the people hope for a constructive "peace with honor" quickly.

Plan Strategy
CIO and AFOL peace committees met separately and secretly to plan their strategy.

The federation's negotiators luncheon together before going to the White House. The CIO's "big three" met at the United Mine Workers' union building. CIO General Counsel Lee Pressman participated in the strategy session.

The meeting, initiated by the president, marked the first time that he has participated in a formal peace move or met with a joint AFL-CIO committee. The one other CIO-AFL peace conference ended unsuccessfully Dec. 21, 1937.

FDR Wants Peace
This meeting in the White House and Mr. Roosevelt's personal participation was believed expressive of his willingness to do anything he could to bring the two groups together.

Matthew Woll, Thomas Richert and Harry C. Bates, all high federation executives, represented the AFL, and CIO President John L. Lewis, Sidney Hillman and Philip Murray, represented the CIO.

In inviting the AFL and CIO to resume peace negotiations, Mr. Roosevelt had given four reasons why the labor war should end:

- First, because it is right.
- Second, because the responsible officers from both groups seem to me to be ready and capable of making a negotiated and just peace.
- Third, because your membership ardently desire peace and unity for the better ordering of their responsible life in the trade unions and in their communities.
- Fourth, because the government of the United States and the people of America believe it to be a wise and almost necessary step for the further development of the cooperation between free men in a democratic society such as ours.

Supervisors Of State Convene

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—(UP)—The state legislature studied relief and appropriations, the Supervisors Association of California opened its 30th annual convention today with a heavy program devoted mostly to the same important subjects.

More than 300 supervisors were expected to attend the conference, two days here in the capitol city, and another session at San Francisco Thursday. Besides relief, the supervisors will look into problems of socialized medicine.

Speakers scheduled to address the county officers included Gov. Culbert L. Olson, Public Works Director Frank W. Clark, Finance Director Hill S. Gibson, Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson and George F. Simmons, president of the National County Officers Association.

Engineered Madrid Coup

General Segismundo Casado, head of the Madrid Defense Council, which yesterday seized the governmental reins of Spain from the Juan Negrin faction. Credited with having engineered the coup, Casado today took a "back seat," following the naming of Gen. Jose Miaja as the new head of the Defense Council.

POPE DELAYS NAMING OF NEW SECRETARY; HOLDS CONFERENCE

VATICAN CITY, March 7.—(UP)—Pope Pius XII may act as his own secretary of state during the first part of his reign because of the troubled world situation, a source close to the Vatican said today.

The statement was made after a meeting of the four cardinals of Greater Germany yesterday. It was reported that he discussed with them the strained relations between the Vatican and the Nazi government.

Private Parley
Vatican circles would say nothing officially about the audiences. It was said that the Pope might have discussed relations between state and church in Germany but that the audiences were private and nothing was known of them. Some significance was attached to the fact, however, that the Pope saw the four Greater German cardinals and only two others during the day. The Germans were Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich; Cardinal Bert-

BARKLEY URGES APPROVAL OF HUGE ARMY EXPANSION BILL

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—The Senate today passed the army expansion bill authorizing an army air corps of 6000 fighting planes, strengthening of Panama Canal defenses and education of industry in production of vital materials of war.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, questioning the efficacy of the neutrality act in aiding world peace, urged the Senate today to approve the $358,000,000 army expansion bill to protect America's position in a troubled world.

Asserted Girl 'Bookie' Nabbed In Laguna Raid

Arrest of an asserted girl "bookie" and seizure of a quantity of paraphernalia resulted last night from a raid on a South Laguna establishment by operatives from the district attorney's office and Laguna Beach enforcement agencies, who also arrested a taxi driver.

Urges Development
The Senate naval affairs committee heard Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook and Juan T. Trippie, president of Pan American Airways, urge authorization of the disputed $5,000,000 harbor and airport development on Guam.

Cook, chief of naval aeronautics, said the Guam improvements would enable the navy to establish a valuable "listening post" in the western Pacific.

Committee Chairman David I. Walsh, D. Mass., refused to permit Cook to answer questions about reported improvements in the Japanese mandated islands, one of which is only 49 miles from Guam. He said such information should be kept secret.

Project "Essential"
Trippie testified that the Guam project is "an essential aid" to civil aviation.

At present the harbor at Guam is not suitable for civil aviation," Trippie said. Trippie said Pan-America expected shortly to reduce the air transit time from San Francisco to Guam to 2½ days. Approximately four days now are required.

GANDHI ENDS FOOD STRIKE

RAJKOT, India, March 7.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi ended his "fast unto death" today when the Indian and British governments intervened to assure a settlement of his demand for liberalization of the government of Rajkot state.

Gandhi seemed nearing the point of collapse when he broke his fast at 2:30 p. m. He had been without food for 98½ hours since noon Friday.

Victorious Fast
E. C. Gibson, British government resident for Rajkot state, had visited Gandhi yesterday seeking to find a basis for settlement of Gandhi's claim that the young Thakore Saheb, ruler of the state, had violated a solemn contract to liberalize his government.

It was understood Gandhi's fast was victorious and he won the viceroy's promise that the original agreement with the ruler of Rajkot will be carried out and prisoners whom Gandhi consider unjustly held will be freed.

The terms of settlement were reported to envisage an inquiry by the chief justice of India into the charges against Rajkot's ruler. It was understood that Gibson

NEW ZONING MAP IS OKED BY COUNCIL

After more than an hour of discussion among city planning commissioners and city councilmen last night during council meeting, council made three changes in the master zoning plan and map designed to revise zones throughout the city and adopted them officially by voting favorably on the new zoning ordinance. The ordinance requires second reading and adoption before it becomes effective.

Amendments to the master plan and map, which were prepared by the planning commission under supervision of Gordon Whitnall, employed as zoning expert, after a year's study, are as follows:

Duplexes are allowed in the area bounded by Sixth and Eighth and Baker and Olive; 6000 square feet of lot space are required for construction of duplexes in duplex zones; 2000 square feet of lot space are required in addition to the 6000 square feet whenever the owner of the duplex wishes to add sufficient space for another family; 1500 square feet of lot space must be available in addition to the 6000 square feet whenever the owner of a building already constructed wishes to change its construction to provide space for a third family. The third amendment, asked by 15 Bush street property owners, permits medical offices in the area lying between Bush and Main and in the west half of all blocks lying between Bush and Spurgeon, from Sixth and Washington, and prohibits construction of hospitals and sanitariums there.

Verdicts Denied
Salich and Gorin, head of a Soviet travel bureau, were denied directed verdicts on all three counts.

Judge Jenney had no comment to make on national defense other than saying:

"I deem it unnecessary and inadvisable to define the word 'national defense' as used in the espionage act in the United States statutes until such time as I give instructions to a jury after the defense has put on its case."

The government charges Salich told to Gorin a number of secret reports taken from the navy intelligence bureau files. The defense asked for the directed acquittal on the ground the reports given Gorin by Salich were not vital to the national defense and therefore the espionage act had not been violated.

THIEVES KILL FISH
SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—(UP)—Nearly 3000 black bass, catfish and perch were killed when golf ball thieves drained a lake at Del Paso country club to salvage golf balls that failed to clear the pond, police reported today.

Caretaker James Richards said the creek bed was literally strewn with dead fish. He said he was able to save about 1000.

"PRIZE WINNING WPA BONER" READS LIKE PLOT FOR COMEDY

NEW YORK, March 7.—(UP)—The WPA admitted today that it finally had happened. One of its wrecking crews tore down the wrong building.

There wasn't a stick left standing of the three-story frame structure owned by the Newburgh Savings Bank when the mistake was discovered. And next door, a three-story building that the Title Guarantee and Trust Company had asked to have razed, stood untouched.

The city housing authority, using WPA labor, razes old buildings free, as part of a slum clearance program. Title Guarantee had asked to have its frame store and tenement building at 158 Belmont avenue, Brooklyn, removed.

Too Many Numbers
The wrecking crew went out. At the corner of Powell street the foreman found No. 162 Belmont avenue. The next two buildings were unnumbered and abandoned. The first one was No. 158, the next No. 156. But the crew figured that the first one should be No. 160, since it was next door to No. 162, and that the third house would be No. 158. So they attacked the third house. They had cleared the lot and reported the job done before Title Guarantee telephoned again to inquire when No. 158 was going to be razed.

After an investigation, the WPA had to notify the Newburgh bank that it no longer had a building at No. 156. A spokesman for the bank said it objected very much. What action it will take has not been determined.

NEW LOYALIST REGIME FIGHTS REDS; LEADERS IN PEACE MOVE

Olson Backs Relief Bill

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—(UP)—The recurring problem of caring for California's legion of unemployed faced the legislature again today as Gov. Culbert L. Olson asked passage of a $4,053,928 deficiency bill to carry the state relief program through the final 55 days of this fiscal year.

The requested deficiency appropriation—second of the current legislative session—focused attention on the governor's plans to attempt a solution to the relief situation through self-help works projects for the unemployed.

Debate New Plan

Olson and Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson intend to use the new money and the remainder of the $19,975,000 appropriated in January merely to carry out the present "dole" relief system until June 30. But debate on the deficiency bill will give conservatives in the legislature an opportunity to question administration men once more on the controversial "production-for-use" philosophy. The relief fund estimated last only until May 6. Actual inauguration of the works projects is planned for start of the new biennium, July 1, and discussions of Olson's $72-

ACQUITTAL MOTION FAILS IN SPY CASE

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Federal Judge Ralph Jenney today denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal and ordered Mikhail Gorin and his wife, Natasha, and Hafis Salich, former naval intelligence bureau employee, to present their defense to three charges of violation of the espionage act.

However, Judge Jenney granted Mrs. Gorin a directed verdict of acquittal on two of the three counts of obtaining and transmitting information affecting the United States national defense. She must present her defense to the third count charging conspiracy to obtain and communicate information affecting the national defense.

Salich and Gorin, head of a Soviet travel bureau, were denied directed verdicts on all three counts.

Judge Jenney had no comment to make on national defense other than saying:

"I deem it unnecessary and inadvisable to define the word 'national defense' as used in the espionage act in the United States statutes until such time as I give instructions to a jury after the defense has put on its case."

The government charges Salich told to Gorin a number of secret reports taken from the navy intelligence bureau files. The defense asked for the directed acquittal on the ground the reports given Gorin by Salich were not vital to the national defense and therefore the espionage act had not been violated.

State Court To Hear Bridges Plea

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—The California state supreme court today was scheduled to reconsider a petition of Harry Bridges, Pacific coast CIO leader, for review of the superior court finding of contempt of court in connection with a San Pedro waterfront labor dispute.

The superior court found Bridges guilty of contempt and fined him $125 after he released for publication a telegram he had sent to Secretary of Labor Perkins. The telegram threatened a coastwide harbor tie-up if an order of the court appointing a receiver for the International Longshoremen's union of San Pedro was enforced.

The supreme court first denied Bridges' petition for review, but reversed the ruling and set today for hearing.

Armstrong to Meet Ambers in N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles Negro, today agreed to defend his lightweight title against former champion Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., this summer in New York.

Armstrong, who won the championship from Ambers last August and who has not defended it since, had been given until March 5 to sign or open negotiations for a defense against Ambers.

The New York Athletic Commission, through its chairman, Gen. John J. Phelan, said it had received word from Eddie Meade, Armstrong's manager, that they were agreeable to an Ambers match this summer.

AFL Negotiator

A.F.L. President William A. Green, appointed Thomas A. Rickert, above, head of the United Garment Workers Union, to serve on the A.F.L. negotiating committee which will join C.I.O. leaders in a peace meeting.

EX-REORGANIZATION FOE BACKS NEW BILL

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(UP)—Rep. E. E. Cox, D. Ga., Democratic leader of the coalition which killed President Roosevelt's government reorganization bill last year, placed his support today behind the new compromise reorganization measure.

Renewing debate in the house, Cox said he "can find no valid ground" to object to the new bill. His statement was of significance since 76 Democratic members who last year helped kill the reorganization plan still are in the house.

Seeks Solidity
His statement apparently was designed to help solidify Democratic ranks in the face of virtual unanimous opposition to the bill from house Republicans.

Cox said the bill "does not in effect undertake to delegate any kind of legislative power" to the president.

He said the authors of the new bill "evidently took into account the objections raised to the former measure."

Cox said he trusted that Republicans would not "on close oppose this bill," and that "reorganization is not a partisan question."

Rep. Lindsay Warren, D. N. C., author of the measure, expressed doubt the house would approve a reorganization bill introduced in the senate yesterday by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va. He said it would give the president no new or additional power to reorganize bureaus and achieve economy.

State, Loan Firm Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—(UP)—The state attempted in court to extend its control over four subsidiary corporations of the $50,000,000 Pacific States Savings and Loan company.

Fighting back at company attempts to regain possession of the firm, State Building and Loan Commissioner Ralph Evans filed a suit in superior court asking that a receiver be appointed for the four corporations on grounds they were "controlled and dominated" by ousted officers of Pacific States.

Charge Fraud

The companies were State Guaranty Corporation, Pacific States Auxiliary Corporation, State Guaranty Auxiliary Corporation, and the R. S. Odell company.

The suit charged that through an intricate corporate setup the Pacific States management used the subsidiary firms to violate the state building and loan act "by means of false and fraudulent acts, tricks and concealments."

Evans seized Pacific States Saturday "to conserve its assets" and has held possession of the company since then with Norman W. Church of San Jose acting as custodian.

Answers Odell
In the suit Evans suggested that Church be appointed receiver for the other companies.

NEW FOOD SUBSIDY PLAN IS DRAFTED

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—The government's new plan for subsidizing the purchase of surplus foods by relief clients was put in final form today for submission to a conference of grocers next week.

The food and grocery conference committee, composed of food retailers, will be asked to approve a revised plan to be offered by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. If approved, it will be put into effect in selected cities about April 15.

A late revision removed a provision in a tentative draft that would have required relief clients to take part of their government pay in food stamps. The new plan, subject to possible further revisions, provides that a relief client may take part of his pay in food stamps if he wishes.

"Stamp Plan"
Relief clients, under the new plan, would be given the option of taking all of their pay in cash or part in cash and part in orange colored stamps which could be exchanged at any grocery for food.

Those who took part pay in orange stamps would be given blue stamps equal to one-half the value of the orange. The value of the blue stamps would in effect be an increase in their relief pay. The blue stamps, however, could be exchanged only for surplus food products. Blue stamps could be obtained only by those who purchased orange stamps.

Sponsors of the proposal predicted that if it is adopted it will enable relief clients to increase their purchases of food by one-third, improve living standards and reduce farm surpluses.

Lockheed Builds Fast Fighter

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Lockheed Aircraft Corporation today brought out a new high speed "all purpose" warplane, the first of 12 of which have already been ordered by the Dutch East Indian Air Force.

The plane is a twin engine, all metal monoplane equipped with bombing facilities and both fixed and flexible gunnery. It is called the 212. Lockheed officials predicted a high performance in speed tests to be made next week.

One machine gun is fixed in the nose to be operated by the pilot and the other is mounted flexibly in a rotating turret on top of the cabin.

EPIDEMIC HITS JAILS

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Two hundred prisoners in the city and county jails were under treatment today for influenza but health authorities said the epidemic was under control.

All visitors were barred from the jails.

The Lincoln Heights city jail recently was renovated after an epidemic of diphtheria broke out among prisoners and jail personnel.

UPRISING IN ARMY FAILS

MADRID, March 7.—(UP)—Republican troops opened fire in the streets of Madrid today to crush a counter revolutionary outbreak among soldiers led by Communists opposing peace negotiations with the Nationalists.

Shots were exchanged by the Communist-led soldiers and Republican troops defending the new defense council headed by Gen. Jose Miaja but, the council announced, the uprising was quickly suppressed.

Round Up Reds

Miaja and Juan Besteiro, moderate political leader on the council, appealed to the populace to aid in crushing the Communists throughout Republican Spain in order to permit the new regime to negotiate a settlement of the civil war.

Communist headquarters at Valencia and Madrid were raided and left in charge of troops.

The Communists were charged by Miaja with misleading troops in "some battalions" and inspiring them to attempt overthrow of the defense council, which came into power yesterday after ousting Premier Juan Negrin's government.

Terrorists in automobiles fired on Republican soldiers in the north section of Madrid and the troops returned the fire. Another bank of counter revolutionaries, led by Communists, fortified itself near the government buildings and attempted to lead a coup d'etat against the council.

Surrender
The government announced that this band had been forced to surrender later.

Automobile and pedestrian traffic was suspended in the city for two hours during and after the uprising.

"Absolute tranquility existed in all Spain except for Madrid," Gen. Segismundo Casado, leader of the uprising against Negrin, announced to the people by radio after the Communist outbreak.

"In Madrid Communists made desperate by their latest failure deceived troops in some battalions, who attempted an audacious coup."

FRANCO SHUNS CASADO PEACE MOVE

PARIS, March 7.—(UP)—Spanish Nationalist sources said tonight that Gen. Segismundo, of the new Madrid defense council, had established contact last Saturday with Nationalist Gen. Francisco Franco with a view to negotiating peace but that Franco had made no reply other than to insist on unconditional surrender.

It was stated in Nationalist sources that Casado advised the Nationalists at Burgos four days ago that it was planned to overthrow the cabinet of Premier Juan Negrin at Madrid in an anti-Communist coup d'etat.

Casado established contact with Franco on Saturday in an effort

FDR Devaluation Power Defended

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., told the House coinage committee today that to put gold back in circulation now would be "no help to recovery and might add to instability."

Testifying on Chairman Andrew J. Somers' bill to extend President Roosevelt's dollar devaluation power and the stabilization fund until 1941, Morgenthau was subjected to questioning by Republican committee members on gold and silver policies.

"What is your objection," asked Rep. August H. Andersen, R. Minn., "to returning to the gold standard so that species payments could be resumed?"

"If we put out a lot of gold at $35 an ounce," Morgenthau replied, "it fixes the price and moves this weapon that I'm asking Congress to extend—the power to devalue in case of great emergency."

CITRUS PESTS INTERCEPTED

Heavily infested with six types of live scale insects, at least two of which would cause serious damage to California agriculture if established in this state, a box of Japanese oranges shipped to Los Angeles via Seattle was intercepted by plant quarantine inspectors of Los Angeles county at the express office there, a report to the Bureau of Plant Quarantine of the State Department of Agriculture by Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner Harold J. Ryan shown today.

Mealybug Discovered
The interception was made by Inspector Perkins during routine inspection. Although the box of oranges was small, the Japanese fruits were found to be infested with the following types of scales: yellow, Japanese citrus, lesser cotton, camphor, San Jose, Florida and Glover's. A Japanese mealybug was also discovered on the oranges.

Of these the interception of Japanese citrus scale, (Unaspis yanonensis), was looked upon as the most important as it is not found on the North American continent and is listed as an important citrus pest in Japan.

The interception of the lesser cotton scale, (Pinnaspis minor), was also described as of some economic importance as it is a pest of cotton in Peru and also found in other sections of South America. It apparently does not occur in California.

Scale Insects Found
Later Inspector Perkins discovered another shipment of oranges and apples, the oranges, of Japanese origin, being heavily infested with scale insects. Inspector Platt, also a member of Commissioner Ryan's staff, intercepted about 20 pounds of mandarin oranges with other merchandise, four types of scale insects being found.

Formally Calls City Election

There's going to be a municipal and board of education election on April 10, definitely! That was the decision of city council last night in formally passing an ordinance which calls the election.

The ordinance also designates polling places, sets the hours of voting (6 a. m. until 7 p. m.) names the officers to be elected and appoints election officials.

A program to define agricultural labor as covered in the National Labor Relations act has been presented to Congress by national agricultural organizations, according to word received by C. J. Marks, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau, from national headquarters.

Much of the argument prepared in favor of the adoption of Senate bill 1550 and companion bills in the House or Representatives numbered HR 4400 and 4376, was based on experience of the North Whittier Heights Citrus association, Sierra Madre-Lamanda Citrus association and the Upland Citrus association.

Cite Board Ruling
In some cases ruled upon by the National Labor Relations board, orders have been given for employees said to have been discharged for lack of work or other causes to be reinstated with full pay from the time of their discharge, according to information received here. Other practices of the board are criticized in the brief prepared to support the requested amendment.

The definition of "agricultural labor," as included in the bills, includes "any practices performed by or for a farmer or on a farm as an incident to or in connection with such farming operations, including preparation for market, delivery to storage or to market or to carriers for transportation to market," and includes employees in connection with "cleaning or otherwise preparing in their raw or natural state, pre-cooling, freezing, drying, grading, packing, canning for market from their raw or natural state, of fresh fruits and vegetables," and other definitions which have been sought for some time by agricultural groups of the nation.

City, County News In Brief

Discussion of bean and beet developments, a play by Huntington Beach Union High school students under the direction of Mrs. Edna Condon and a motion picture, "The Thirteen Golden Cities," are included on the Garden Grove Farm center program at the Woman's club house in Midway City Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. A semi-potluck dinner will be served.

The Lathrop Hi-Y club will hold a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 6:30 o'clock. John Winterbourne will show Indian relics and speak on "Indian Life in Orange County." Robert Ashley is president of the group.

A boys' night program has been arranged for Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. with a swim slated for 7 o'clock and a film show at 8 o'clock. The show will include a cartoon, comedy and a feature. The program will end at 9 o'clock and all boys of the city are invited.

Capacity crowds have been attending the revival meetings being conducted nightly at the Foursquare Gospel church, according to the Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor of the church. Tonight Evangelist Adalade Mills will be the speaker. The public is invited to attend all of the services that start at 7:30 p.m.

S. T. Borg, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, and members of his congregation, were given official permission by the city council last night to have a free permit to sell subscriptions to the "Health Magazine," printed by the church denomination. A majority of the council previously had given informal approval.

Ernest L. Friend, pastor of the Full Gospel Assembly, 1600 West Third street, submitted a letter to city council last night, thanking the trustees for their "good will and cooperation" in making the three-day Christ's Ambassadors convention ended recently. The Christ's Ambassadors group is an organization of the young people of the Full Gospel Assembly.

Annual meeting of the stockholders of the Abstract and Title Insurance company will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the company office at 416 North Main street, it was announced today by Roland A. Kloess, secretary. Election of officers and reports of officials will be the highlights of the meeting.

The executive board of McKinley school will have a potluck dinner in the teachers' room at the school tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Lyman Sargent and Mrs. W. P. Bass will be co-hostesses. The regular executive board business meeting will follow the dinner.

Forecasting the early appearance of white taxicabs of the White Cab company, Pasadena-Glendale concern, on Santa Ana streets, two men asked and were granted permits to drive taxis for the new company, when city council met last night. The council acted on recommendation of the taxicab committee, Police Chief Floyd W. Howard, Police Commissioner Plummer, Bruns, City Atty. L. W. Blodgett and Councilman Ernest H. Layton. The permits were granted to M. W. Kilpatrick, 36, 535 Almond avenue, Orange, and Ray Isenberg, 32, 820 East Fourth, the latter being a native of Santa Ana.

TIME EXTENDED IN JACKSON FEE SUIT

Special San Diego counsel for the county supervisors, Edgar Harvey and former Judge Clarence Harden, informally obtained an extension of time for filing their opening brief in their fee suit against former Sheriff Logan Jackson while in Santa Ana yesterday conferring with Jackson's attorneys, Drumm, Tucker and Drumm, regarding an additional stipulation of facts in the case.

The supplementary stipulation, which would eliminate necessity for any further testimony, was not signed yesterday, but probably will be, it was said.

When Superior Judge Louis Drapau, of Ventura, completed hearing of evidence in the case recently, he ordered briefs submitted. The 30-day period for filing the plaintiff's opening brief would expire next Thursday. Harvey and Harden yesterday asked an extension of time, amounting to a week or 10 days, and Jackson's attorney agreed to such an arrangement.

Council Considers Mart Flood Plea

As an aftermath of the heavy rains December 18, last year, F. J. Hershiser, owner of Joe's Super market, Second and Broadway, last night submitted a claim for $97.38 damages from the city in a letter filed with city council. Hershiser asked $5 per day for 12 employees and $37.38 to pay for sawdust and lumber as the result of a flooded cellar.

"I have been in the same location for 16 years and that was the first time there was any flood damage," he declared. "The damage was caused directly from the new, inadequate drainage system. We also ask that appropriations be made for a remedy before other damage is caused." He said a loss of $340 in merchandise also had been experienced but he and manufacturers paid that part of the loss. His communication was referred to City Atty. Lew W. Blodgett for recommendation.

Noted State Bar Leaders to Talk At S. A. Meeting

Distinguished figures of the California Bar will be assembled in Orange county this month when the board of governors of the state bar will be honored by the Orange County Bar association at a banquet in the Santa Ana Country club March 24.

An address by Paul Vallee, president of the board of governors, is scheduled. There will be no other speaking, but a program of vaudeville entertainment has been arranged, according to Secretary George Parker, of the local bar association.

County Hill-Billy Party Planned For Thursday Night

The courthouse is running to braids, bonnets and bib-overalls this week, the county family having planned a Hill Billy Party for Thursday evening in Legion hall, Santa Ana.

The affair, set for 6:45 p. m. is expected to lure a crop of amateur Martins and McCoys, Grandpa Snazzy and Uncle Ezra, along with a few relatives of Bob Burns. "The auditor's gals," said an announcement of the party, "will be there in sunbonnets and aprons," and other departments, it was added, will go in costume.

POLICE SEEKING 2 HOLDUP MEN

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and his men were on the alert today for two daring holdup men who have been robbing drug stores in Southern California recently, preying particularly upon drug stores located on brightly lighted main thoroughfares, between 6 and 9 p. m.

Detective Sergeant Malcolm Kirkpatrick, head of the Long Beach police department robbery detail, gave a description of the holdup men.

Heavily Armed
No. 1 is tall and of light complexion, No. 2, short and of dark complexion. Both are between 30 and 35 years old, using a late-model, green colored coupe which may be an Oldsmobile. Both men are heavily armed. Their method of operation is to go to drug stores on main thoroughfares after first parking their car on a dark side-street nearby.

Elderly Man Hurt In Auto Crash

Returning at 10:40 o'clock last night from a birthday party where his 79th birthday was celebrated, William Klug, 611 East Collins avenue, drove into a parked car belonging to Richard F. Imholt, standing in front of the Imholt residence at 612 East Walnut avenue.

Klug told Orange police he did not see the black car as the street was poorly lighted. The elderly man suffered bruises about the chest and cuts about his face. He was taken to the office of Dr. W. S. Wallace for treatment.

Agricultural Group In New Move To Revive Orange County Fair

Plans for the re-establishment of the Orange county fair moved a step nearer when the directors of the Thirty-second District Agricultural association met last night and heard pledges of co-operation from W. H. Young, representative of the El Rodeo Riding club, and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth and Ed Elfstrom, representing the Santa Ana Assistance league.

$6000 Fund Available

Approximately $6000 in prize money is available for the county fair from the state, according to Carl Mock, president of the association. Suggestion has been made that various Orange county groups combine their efforts and talents in presenting an annual show this year with which would be included farm exhibits, Mock said. Application for the prize money would be made through the agricultural association.

Offers Facilities

Young offered the use of the riding club's facilities between Brea and Placentia, where the club has five acres under lease. The Assistance league has presented a horse show in the Municipal bowl for the past two years. This year's event is scheduled for June 17 at the bowl.

The agricultural association will hold another meeting March 20 when further discussion will be held.

ENGINEERS TO HEAR RADIO EXPERT TALK

The details of radio broadcasting will be exemplified at the regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles Section, American Society of Civil Engineers, at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday at the University Club, 614 South Hope street.

Paul L. Johnson will talk on "Network Broadcasting," and Mike Frankovich will speak on "The Inside of Radio Broadcasting." These talks will be preceded by a dinner.

Johnson is Exchange Transmission Design Engineer of the Southern California Telephone company, and also a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. His talk will be illustrated with slides and portable equipment and will deal with the various new phases of the transmission of radio programs. The broadcasting of sports will be explained by Frankovich, popular ex-athlete from U. C. L. A.

Preceding the dinner, Robert R. Ashline, electrolysis engineer of the bureau of waterworks and supply, will address the junior civil engineers on "Corrosion Mitigation in Steel and Cast Iron Water Mains."

DRIVER DRAWS 100-DAY TERM

Joe Campos, 22, 124 East Delhi, Santa Ana, who pleaded guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday to a charge of drunk driving following his arrest after an accident in which he and a companion were injured here, was sent to jail for a 100-day term.

Others fined included Edward S. Wilczynski, charged with intoxication after being found in a car on Minter street, $5. A five-day jail term was suspended on condition he leave the city at once.

Works Out Fine

William C. Pace, who assertedly entered a local home by removing a window screen, was fined $25 for common drunkenness; he agreed to work out the fine. A 60-day jail term was suspended on condition he quits using liquor for six months.

Marion F. Smith, Santa Ana, who built a fire in a local used car lot office "to keep warm," pleaded guilty to charge of common drunkenness, was given a 180-day suspended jail term on condition he quits use of liquor for two years. Glenn R. Hall, Santa Ana, and John Cummins, Los Angeles, were fined $10 each for speeding; Ross Burton, Fullerton, $5 for boulevard stop violation.

Despondent Man Takes Own Life

Because he "didn't ever want to be a burden to anyone" and because of poor health, according to county officials, Elias B. Hill, 85, last evening committed suicide at his home on Orangeflorio road, Placentia by hanging. A belt placed around his neck and tied to the top of a bed strangled him, according to investigation.

Mr. Hill, prominently known in Orange and vicinity where he made his home for the past 38 years, made his home for the past five years with a son, Frank S. Hill, who discovered the body at 6:45 p. m.

Mr. Hill was born in Jasper county, Iowa. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, Frank S. Hill, Placentia; Hugh H. Hill, Orange; Miles E. Hill, Reno, Nev.; Mrs. Harriet McCreary, Los Angeles, and Miss Leah B. Hill, Orange, and four grandchildren. Mr. Hill was a member of the Friends church and frequently attended the Friends church in El Modena. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from Gillogly's funeral chapel with interment to follow at Fairhaven cemetery.

Father And Son To Attend Fete

The Y.M.C.A. will sponsor a father and son banquet Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Y. The program will include songs led by Perry Smith and a talk on "What Makes a Good Citizen?" by Walter Tipton.

All fathers and sons of the community are invited, it was announced today by Herbert Thomas, boys' work secretary of the Y. Reservations are requested.

HELD IN NON-SUPPORT

Failure to support his minor children was the charge filed against Harry W. Maddux, 58, when he was arrested by San Bernardino sheriff's officers yesterday on an Orange county superior court bench warrant. Maddux was brought to Orange county jail at 12:10 a. m. today.

Charlie Ross?

In Phoenix, Ariz., Gustave Blair, 69, filed suit against the estate of Christian K. Ross, claiming he is Charles Brewster Ross, whose kidnapping near Philadelphia in 1874 has never been solved.

Mrs. Scroggins, 80, Dies in Local Hospital

Mrs. Cordelia D. Scroggins, 80, a native of Kentucky whose residence has been in Southern California for nearly 20 years, died last night at an Orange hospital after an extended illness.

She is survived by two sons, C. A. Scroggins of Oklahoma, and A. J. Scroggins of Fullerton; four daughters, Mrs. W. A. Broyles of Westminster, Mrs. Ora Zimmerman and Mrs. W. A. Blackwell both of Texas, and Mrs. W. T. Estep of Missouri; one brother, Sylvester Kissinger of Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Susie Sullivan and Mrs. J. W. Farley both of Texas; 24 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

She was a member of the Nazarene church. Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld Funeral home in Anaheim tomorrow at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Cora Isham, former pastor of the Anaheim Nazarene church will officiate and burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Little Actress To Entertain

NEWPORT BEACH, March 7.—Little Vina Mae Harmer, who tried for the part of Bonnie in "Gone With the Wind," and who at six years of age has been engaged for an appearance at the Orange show, and has numerous appearances to her credit, will be one of the featured entertainers at the "Ladies' Night" meeting of the 20-30 club scheduled for Monday evening at Wilson's cafe. Two others will appear for a portion of the entertainment under the auspices of the Shields School of Music of Santa Ana. Ferris Edgar, who is a teacher in the Huntington Beach Elementary school, will be the speaker of the evening presenting his experiences while teaching in an English school on the Isle of Crete.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hostetler of Long Beach, were hosts to a group of their friends, at their Shady Brook cabin, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pieser of Long Beach, are vacationing at the Kirby cabin in the Hough tract.

BUSINESS WOMEN PLAN ELECTION

Preparations for Business and Professional Women's club annual election was made last night when Mrs. Edith Thatcher, president, named a nominating committee to comprise Miss Lula Ott, chairman; Mrs. Hazel Northcross and Miss Mable Cole.

This was but one of several business matters considered at the club dinner in the Doris Kathryn. Action was taken on candidates for district and state offices to be filled at the two spring conclaves. That of Southern District federation, of which Miss Dorothy Decker of this city is president, will be held at Del Mar April 15 and 16. The state convention will come May 26 to 28 in Del Monte.

New Members Present

Three new members were welcomed, Miss Ruby Klingner, a pharmacist; Mrs. Ilsa Jessee, office manager, and Mrs. Hazel Weight, home economist. Other business details included Miss Martha Whitson's reading of the by-laws revisions before the introduction of program features on the March theme, "My Savings and Yours."

Miss Mabel Whiting, finance chairman, and Miss Mable Cole had planned a round table discussion in which Miss Lena Thomas discussed the subject from the standpoint of banks; Miss Whitson from that of building and loan institutions; Miss Lula Ott from the real estate standpoint, and Mrs. Blanche Brown from that of insurance protection.

In the evening's summary of current events, Miss Janet Humphrey devoted her talk to the neutrality act. Mrs. Northcross announced the meeting of March 20 as a social one with bridge and other games planned to follow the 6 o'clock dinner hour.

Firemen Aid In Birth of Girl

Santa Ana firemen became physicians "without portfolio" at 2:27 a. m. today when they made an emergency run to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Vernal, Route 3, Box 549, West Fifth street, Santa Ana, and assisted an eight and one-half pound daughter of the Vernals into the world.

"Go out on West Fifth street, three blocks west of the bridge at once," was the advice directed to the fire department resuscitator squad. The squad went in a hurry. Dr. L. C. Davison and the squad attended mother and baby, who are doing well now. The only report filed on fire department records for the case is: "Successful."

'Get Your Man' Talk Slated

"Get your man." This is not advice to love-lorn females but the motivating force of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and tomorrow noon, Kiwanians of Santa Ana will hear James C. Thackray, a former member of the famous force, will talk about the duties and experiences of the group.

W. C. Peale will be program chairman for the day and will introduce the speaker.

Police Open Quiz To Halt Nuisance

A Costa Mesa woman who told sheriff's officers two Mexican men in a car bearing license 5-X-4914 assertedly followed her car to her home, stopped when she stopped to obtain gasoline, drove by her car, slowed down, let her drive by and otherwise disturbed her greatly, asked protection. She said the disturbance occurred about 9 p. m. yesterday. A check with Sacramento license officials shows the license is registered to Valentino O. Camarillo, Route 1, Box 297, Costa Mesa, sheriff's officers reported.

Mrs. Clark Gable
In Divorce Move

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Maria Gable will go into divorce court this afternoon to tell in brief and formal fashion that Clark Gable deserted her after four years of married life. Five minutes later she is expected to have her decree, and her handsome movie lover husband will be free to marry blonde Carole Lombard.

Gable, who asked her for the divorce and settled a reputed $300,000 upon her to get it, stayed in Hollywood making movies and was not even represented here by counsel. To help speed the divorce along, he mailed to Las Vegas a written waiver of any opposition to the suit being granted.

Their friends in the film colony predicted that after a brief interval Gable and Miss Lombard would culminate their romance by slipping away to Mexico or Nevada and marrying.

G-Men Thwart
Stock Swindle

DALLAS, Tex., March 7.—(UP)—United States postal authorities said today the arrest of three men by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents had thwarted a stock swindle through which investors might have lost $500,000.

Arrested on federal indictments charging use of the mails to defraud were Charles E. Welch, Robert L. Hood and W. M. Seay. G-men arrested Hood in Oro Grande, N. M.; Seay at Las Vegas, and Welch at San Antonio, Tex.

They were charged with operating "The American Gold Mining Corp.," a bogus enterprise located in an abandoned claim near Hillsboro, N. M., and attempting to sell 500,000 shares of stock in it at $1 each.

Quints Ordered To Meet King

TORONTO, Ont., March 7.—(UP)—The Dionne quintuplets are coming down from Callander May 22 for a "command performance" before their visiting majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

It will be their first time away from home. They will travel the 200 miles in a private railway car on a special train, accompanied by "papa" and "mama"—Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne—and Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who delivered them May 28, 1934.

The Ontario government announced their coming, and said Dr. Dafoe had agreed to it, although at Callander, the doctor denied that he had been consulted. He has been piqued since he learned that the itinerary of the royal tour did not include a visit to Callander, and he once protested that the snub to the quintuplets, who are technically the king's wards, "was an insult to the French-Canadian race."

Seeks Delay In
Coogan Trial

HOLLYWOOD, March 7.—(UP)—William M. Rains, attorney for Jackie Coogan, today said he would ask the court for a week's continuance when trial is called today of Coogan's suit against his mother and stepfather for an accounting and recovery of his earnings as a child film star.

Rains said he still was hopeful that an out-of-court settlement could be effected.

Coogan's estimated $400,000 earnings now have dwindled to approximately $300,000, a court appraiser reported.

El Toro Resident
Called By Death

A native of Spain, Pedro Changala, 56, of El Toro, died at St. Joseph hospital today after an illness of brief duration. A rancher, Mr. Changala, had been a resident of California for the past 35 years and of Orange county the last 17 years.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Marie Louise Changala and 12 children: Adeline, Grace, John, Peter, Joseph, Dominic, Anthony, Mary Louise, Leon, Margaret, Steven and St. Paul Changala, all of El Toro.

Funeral notice will be made later by Brown and Wagner mortuary.

Solons to Quash
Perkins Ouster

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—The House judiciary committee was reported today to be almost unanimously in favor of quashing impeachment charges pending against Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and two other labor department officials.

After another executive session regarding the charges filed by Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R., N. J., based on Miss Perkins' handling of the Harry Bridges deportation case, three members reported that all but one of the 25 members of the committee appeared to be in favor of clearing Miss Perkins, Immigration Commissioner James L. Houghteling and Labor Department Solicitor Gerald D. Reilly.

Chairman Hatton W. Sumners, D., Texas, intends to appoint a subcommittee to recommend to the committee on Thursday what step it should take next.

Fraud Convicts
Plan Court Fight

RENO, Nev., March 7.—(UP)—James C. McKay, Reno sportsman, announced today that he and his partner, William J. Graham, will appeal their conviction on mail fraud charges to the U. S. Supreme court.

"Certainly we will appear," McKay said. "We have fought this thing too far to quit now." McKay said their New York attorney, Moses Ploukoff, would reveal what steps would be taken in behalf of the two Reno men, sentenced to nine years in prison and fined $11,000 on charges they financed the "Reno Ring" of confidence men who allegedly mulcted $2,500,000 from scores of persons throughout the country and Canada.

The court action was regarded as Evans' "answer" to Pacific States petition for an injunction ordering the state to return the assets and management to Robert S. The Evans suit today asked that records of the four subsidiaries be delivered to the state and that an accounting be made.

Army, Navy Join
In 'War Games'

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—Army and navy defense units prepared today for war games in the North Atlantic intended to test the vulnerability of industrial New England to attack.

The navy announced late yesterday that it will send 15 vessels, including two battleships, and 48 patrol bombers to the maneuvers. Army officials would not reveal what land forces will participate but it was understood virtually all coast defense units will be brought into action.

Preparations were made in secrecy. The navy would not tell even the names of the ships nor the area in which they will operate.

Trace New Clue
In L. A. Slaying

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Police today searched for the owner of a stained coat found under the steps of the library building on City College campus in the hope of developing clues to the identity of the slayer of Anya Sosyeva, co-ed, on the campus last Feb. 24.

Police chemists were analyzing the stains to determine whether they were human blood.

Detectives said they found a card in the coat giving the name of a City College student and a National Youth Administration membership card giving another name.

Capt. D. R. Patton of the homicide bureau withheld the two names while his men sought the two persons for questioning.

REPUBLICAN FLEET
SURRENDERS TO FRANCO

TUNIS, North Africa, March 7.—(UP)—Eleven ships of the Spanish Republican fleet surrendered to French authorities today and were interned with their crews. Escaping from Cartagena, where they revolted against the Negrin government, the ships had steamed along the North African coast, seeking refuge.

They arrived in the bay this morning. French admiralty authorities at once put them under a guard of destroyers and ordered them into the inner lake of Bizerte, the great French North African naval base.

There arrangements were made at once to neutralize and later surrender them to the Nationalists.

CIO Renounced
By Auto Union

DETROIT, March 7.—(UP)—The Homer Martin faction of the United Automobile Workers, disavowing any connection with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, today established an independent union.

The action was taken at a convention of the Martin faction, representing a purported 105,000 UAW members. It officially completed division of the UAW into two unions.

The convention, speaking for UAW members who regard Martin as the rightful president, adopted a resolution calling for a referendum to decide any future affiliation. It charged that since formation of the CIO "it has become apparent that affiliation therewith could only be accomplished by sacrificing our democratic autonomy."

Martin said the resolution was the convention's answer to CIO.

Wealthy Arizonan
Commits Suicide

BOSTON, March 7.—(UP)—The suicide of Charles Frothingham Leland, 71 of Tucson, Ariz., in his room at the Hotel Statler was disclosed by police today. Hotel employees reported that Leland, reputedly wealthy, registered Sunday night. A visitor found Leland's body, a bullet in the head, in a closet of the room yesterday morning.

A medical examiner attributed death to suicide.

Fiery Itching Skin
Gets Quick Relief

Home Treatment Eases Unbearable Soreness — Distress

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to ease the itching and torture of Eczema, Itching Toes or Feet. Baskin and many other externally caused skin eruptions and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such embarrassing or unsightly skin troubles would be wise to try it.

Just ask any first-class druggist for an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil and refuse to accept anything else. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that a small bottle lasts a long time and furthermore if this clean powerful, penetrating oil that helps promote healing fails to give you full and complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Injured Woman
Sues For $10,000

Mrs. Susie Noe, of Plymouth, California, who came to spend the last Christmas holidays with her daughter and son-in-law at their home on an oil lease at Huntington Beach, and was injured in a gas explosion in their home on Christmas day, filed suit in superior court today for $10,000 and additional special damages against the oil company that employed her son-in-law.

Mrs. Noe was injured in the dwelling on the lease, owned by the Rex Oil company and occupied by the company's manager, Joe Beeman and his wife, the latter being a daughter of Mrs. Noe.

Mrs. Noe stepped into the bathroom on the evening of December 25 and struck a match. Unknown to her the room had filled with gas leaking from pipes in or about the house. The flame of her match set off an explosion that severely burned and injured her, she claims.

Since the oil company owned the lease, all gas pipes supplying the dwelling, and the gas as well, the company is responsible, she alleges.

Ministers Meet
A group of British cabinet ministers held an emergency meeting at No. 10 Downing street, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's official residence, in London late last night.

It was reported that their meeting was called because Lord Linlithgow sent urgent representations that a basis for settlement must be found because of unrest in Rajkot and possible repercussions elsewhere in India as the result of the fast.

At the meeting, it was said, the ministers had a report from Gibson, the resident, forwarded by Lord Linlithgow, saying that there were brighter prospects for a settlement.

CITY SERVANTS GIVE REPORTS

Business handled by City Judge J. G. Mitchell for last month just about equalled the amount handled for January, this year, but fell approximately $500 behind the record for February, last year, according to a comparison of figures following the judge's filing of a report with city council last night.

February, 1939, shows a total of $2475.90 in collected fines from 87 traffic cases, 69 liquor cases, 30 other misdemeanor cases and 75 city ordinance cases, or a total of 261 cases; January, 1939, shows total of $2483.82 from 112 traffic, 84 liquor, 17 other misdemeanor and 71 city ordinance, or a total of 284 cases, and February, 1938, shows total of $2966.88 from 153 traffic, 57 liquor, 22 other er misdemeanors and 174 city ordinance, or a total of 406 cases. Council referred the report to the finance committee for investigation.

Others Give Figures

February, 1939, reports of three other city officials were received by council and referred similarly. Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen reported 69 building permits issued for $208.50, with valuation set at $71,656, and 41 plastering permits issued for $189.43, or a total of $408.43.

Plumbing Inspector Harry O. Crowe reported 94 plumbing permits issued for $208.50, with valuation of $12,769; 22 sewer permits issued for $22 and one copy of the ordinance sold for 50 cents, or a total of $231. Electrical Inspector W. O. Packard reported 81 electrical permits issued for $189.90.

S. A. OFFICERS IN STORY OF MURDERER

Photographs of Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach are printed in the current issue of "True" magazine along with the story about the tragic death of Daniel Jimenez, young Santa Ana Mexican man, under the title, "Trailing the Golden Will-o'-the-Wisp."

Bob McLean, talented and imaginative special writer for the magazine, who wrote the yarn, elaborates the original story by basing it upon the report that young Jimenez was seeking gold dust and golden church ornaments which were said to have disappeared from San Juan Capistrano mission in 1837. Jimenez was digging a large hole in a Santa Ana orchard in November, 1936, when he fell in head first and was believed to have smothered to death.

LETTUCE PLANT AREA BOOSTED

SACRAMENTO, March 7.—An increase of 11,750 acres in the total plantings of spring lettuce in California this year compared to the total harvested in 1938 was indicated today in a report released by the federal-state crop reporting service at the state department of agriculture.

Preliminary estimate of spring lettuce planted in 1939 was given as 45,900 acres. The total harvested last year was 34,150 acres.

Increases Noted
Largest increase in plantings was noted in the Monterey section where it is estimated that the acreage this year will be 27,800. The corresponding figure for last year was 21,350 acres. Increases were also noted in the following sections: Santa Cruz, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, all in the Central Coastal area, where the total this year is 39,450 acres compared to 30,400 acres harvested last spring in that section; Alameda in the Northern section, the total of the Northern area last year being 900 acres compared to 1,200 acres this year; the San Joaquin Valley, 3,750 acres this year, 1,550 acres last year; and in the Ventura, Los Angeles and San Diego areas of the Southern part of the state. Last year spring lettuce in Southern California totaled 1,300 acres. This year it is estimated at 1,500 acres.

Harvest On 15th
Much of the increase in the San Joaquin Valley this year is attributed to increased plantings in the Delano District.

Spring lettuce harvest is expected to start about March 15 in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo Counties, about March 25 in the Delano section and in the Salinas district about April 1.

Pleas For Zone Changes Granted

Four applications for zone changes from single family zone to special use zone to permit construction of three duplexes and several new apartments in a large home, were given official approval by city council last night upon recommendation of the city planning commission.

Those whose applications were granted last night are Emmet C. Rogers who will complete a duplex on the southeast corner of 15th and Flower; Jasper Farney who will build duplex on Van Ness between Richland and Bishop; Robert L. Arundell who also will build duplex on Van Ness between Richland and Bishop, and Mrs. Eunice Wilson who is to complete the remodeling of a home on Chestnut between Maple and Oak into single apartments.

TRIO ACQUIRES 15 'TAX LOTS' AS OTHER BIDS FAIL TO SHOW

E. E. Wild, Santa Ana real estate operator, Retta Wild and Minnie M. Wild last night became the owners of 15 tax-claimed lots on South Garney and South Flower near Borchard as the result of a "no-competition" deal with the city through the city council.

At council's session February 27, a resolution, signifying the city would accept the Wilds' offer of $1594.44 for the 15 lots unless someone offered a bid of at least 10 per cent more, was adopted.

Set Limit On "Raise"
None appeared last night to compete. At the February 27 meeting, a two-acre tract of city-owned land, once used as a burial ground for animals that died while in the city's service, was sold to James A. Lukens, Santa Ana, for $740 after "hot" competition between Bidders Lukens and Bud Armfield.

As a result of the "hot" bidding between Lukens and Armfield in which Armfield "upped" Lukens' $735 bid by only $2.50, council last night decided that, in the future, when city-owned property is being sold on a competitive basis, a bid raise must be at least $10. The decision was made at suggestion of Councilman Joseph P. Smith. The bid raise of $10 will become effective in the future only after the first bid, which must be at least 10 per cent above the original offer.

PLANS ERECTION OF NEW FOOD MARKET

A food market with 12,000 square feet of floor space, fronting on Fourth and Flower streets, at the southwest corner, is being planned, according to a communication from Edgar Edwards to city council last night.

Edwards said the property, belonging to him, will give him a frontage of 125 by 127 feet. He said the market would be similar to the Grand Central market, downtown. "At present, a lumber company is figuring on the building construction," Edwards stated. "There would be two entrances, one on Fourth, the other on Flower. Three small stores on Fourth would be removed."

City officials expressed belief that a small building to be built at 916 West Fourth street is not to be a store room but would be constructed for L. A. Walkinshaw, local barber, now having his shop at 908 1-2 West Fourth. Council referred Edwards' letter to Building Inspector Harold O. Rasmussen for investigation and disposition.

SMITH SET FOR COUNCIL RACE

Joseph P. Smith, councilman from the second ward, today announced his candidacy for re-election.

Smith, former state real estate commissioner, said he would base his candidacy on his economy record on the council during the last four years. Smith pointed to the fact that he has opposed legislation that would add any greater burden on the people.

Files With Others
"I have always had the city's interest at heart," Smith said, "and I will continue to do so whether I am re-elected to the office of city councilman or not."

Councilman Smith, City Clerk Ed Vegely, candidate for re-election, and Atty. Sharpless Walker, candidate for the office of city attorney in opposition to City Atty. L. W. Blodgett, were the latest to file nomination papers at the city clerk's office, according to records on file today. Saturday noon is the last opportunity to file the papers for municipal office or board of education candidacies.

Sees New Demands From Mussolini

Stressing the weakness of England's position in the present European crisis, and predicting that Italy will very soon demand territorial concessions from France, and will probably get them because France and England are not prepared for war, Calvin Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana junior college, was featured speaker last evening before the Santa Ana chapter, C. S. E. A., local organization of school custodians.

Dean Flint's talk followed the monthly business meeting of the association. Chairman Phillips, of the state civil service commission, was present from Long Beach, and informed the meeting that the outlook was favorable for passage of the school employees civil service bill at this session of the legislature. The group voted unanimously to support this measure.

The World war cost a total of $107,000,000 a day.

LENTZ IS GRANTED LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Earl Lentz, candidate for the office of chief of police, was granted a 42 day leave of absence from his duties as city license inspector, by city council last night in a unanimous action on motion of Councilman Ernest H. Layton, seconded by Councilman Plummer Bruns.

Lentz asked the leave on February 28 and it begins as of that date. He is absent without pay. Council recently recommended that all candidates for public office at the April 10 election take a leave of absence without pay if employed on the city's payroll to avoid the criticism of those who might complain that the city-employed candidates were neglecting their duties as city employees in campaigning for themselves. Lentz was the first city employee to request the leave of absence, officially. R. E. Steinberger, former deputy sheriff under Logan Jackson, will take over Lentz's duties during the latter's absence.

YOU MAY NOT KNOW—

—That spring football practice was suspended at the University of Oregon Saturday. . . . It was a nine-pound girl, first born to Mrs. Oliver and the Oregon coach.

—That the Broadway Clowns and the House of David basketball teams are still in Southern California, only they are playing each other now. Last week they met at Riverside. Tonight they collide in Anaheim. Later in the week they shift to Long Beach.

—That the holier-than-thou C. I. F. is still camping on Pomona's trail. Digging up some more dirt at Nogales, it reports now that Fullback Harry Karns was ineligible, after all, when he played against various Citrus Belt league teams. It seems Karns operated at Nogales in 1934, 1935 and 1936 and for Pomona in '37 and '38. Poor Pomona gets a double-dose in the case of Hurdler George Peterson, Southern Cal. prep champion, who likewise is declared ineligible for '39. A few weeks ago the C. I. F. said Peterson was O. K. Now it reverses itself. It also rescinded a prior ruling on Pomona's prep baseball tournament that would have limited all teams to four games but will hold all pitchers to 18 innings, and not more than 9 in one day.

—That the Citrus Belt league has voted to lengthen from seven to nine innings all its conference baseball games next season.

—That Urban Plavan won $2300 in purses in three days last week when his Urge Me and Khayyam won, and Tornillo ran second, at Santa Anita. The Santa Anita stable will campaign at Tanforan and Bay Meadows this spring. Sure Fine, three-year-old filly, joins the Plavan string up north. She was "fired" several months ago and turned out on a ranch.

—That Uncle Joe Rodgers has signed "Lefty" Bob Fowler, who pitched for San Bernardino last year, and (sh-h-h) also has an ace in the hole if Huntington Beach gets too tough for his new Long Beach softball team. That ace is our friend Looie Neva Novikoff, who is working out with the Los Angeles Angels and is expected to stick in the Coast league as an alternate outfielder. Novikoff will be eligible for any or all of Rodgers' games, although Joe says he would use Looie only as an outfielder. . . . for his hitting.

—That Rudy Holman, who still holds the mile and two-mile records at Santa Anita jaycee, became a palpitating papa yesterday. A son was born to Mrs. Holman at St. Joseph hospital.

—That Walt Linker (as well as brother Vic), Harold Lilley and Joe Kelsey of Tustin's three-time champion basketball team are all Santa Ana jaycee-bound. Lilley and the Linkers are good football prospects along with their basketball ability. Ev Winkler and Marvin Lawrence, Tustin's other cage regulars, are soph and freshman, respectively.

—That Melvin Barron, the promising high hurdler (second at the State prep meet last year) who transferred from Santa Anita to Redondo Beach last September (and played football at Redondo) is now at Compton high school. Compton had splendid prospects without Barron. He makes the Tartars the pre-season favorite for the Southern Cal. championship in track. In his first trial flight of hurdles this season, the former Saint was clocked in 15.3.

—That they must know the answers on basketball at Whittier. Not only is Whittier hi, defending champion, a cinch to coast into the C. I. F. final finals but three of the four schools left in the running are coached by former Whittier players.

Mac Goes To Work, Visits Cubs' Camp

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES — This is a story about the Chicago Cubs, and I'll tell you why.

Almost every day I get a letter from some stern, irate reader demanding to know why I don't write more straight sport stories, and why I clutter up newspaper pages with stories of my own experiences.

I save these letters diligently, and at the end of a month their cumulative effect is enough to make me run screaming to the typewriter and write just the sort of thing I am about to write.

Naturally, I would rather talk about myself, as who wouldn't? Take today, for example. I spent most of it at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, watching Woody Van Dyke direct Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Stewart, and I would love to tell you what Claudette said to me and what I said to her. But no, I must tell you about the Cubs, and how their charity horses are coming along, and what brand of tobacco "Gaby" Hartnett is chewing this year, and how the rookies are standing the separation from the loved ones down on the farm.

Farewell, Claudette! Howya, Gaby!

Hartnett is pleased with the general outlook of the Cubs on nearby Catalina Island where I spent the day yesterday. Biggest change is the result of that trade with the Giants. Macuso, Bartell and Leiber are so delighted to

M'CALLUM HITS BOXING BOARD AND WRESTLING

LOS ANGELES — (UP)—The state athletic commission was under fire today from one of its own members, Dr. Peter S. MacCallum of Los Angeles.

He blamed the commission for the "sorry state" of "hippocratic tactics" of boxing and wrestling in California, and demanded that the commissioners be confronted with a list of questions about policy and finances.

If the commissioners do not answer the questions satisfactorily, Dr. MacCallum suggested in a letter to Gov. Culbert Olson, they should resign in a body and be replaced by "more capable hands."

In Sacramento, Gov. Olson commented: "These are all holdover appointees and I haven't selected anyone to take their places. But I'd just as soon they'd resign. Yes, in fact I hope they do resign."

Dr. MacCallum has been a commissioner eight months. During that time he said he has noticed "a number of abuses" which caused him to question whether the commission is "functioning as intended and prescribed."

Two of the questions he asked were: "1.—Is wrestling a sport or is it a vaudeville or a burlesque? Does the commission approve of faked and fixed bouts; gouging and similar violations of the rules?"

"2.—What becomes of the money applicants pay for licenses for the notarization of their oaths; of the $6000 to $8000 contestants pay annually for the medical examinations required by law; of the $2.50 collected from the promoter of each amateur exhibition."

He also requested a general accounting of commission funds.

The letter was read at yesterday's commission meeting. Chairman George Payne of San Jose scoffed at a number of the questions as "charges that you can't back up." Other commissioners did not comment.

RUSS DEARDON TO PILOT DONS

Next year's basketball team at Santa Ana junior college will be captained by scrappy little Russ Deardon, hustling forward from Idaho Falls, Ida., who was also declared the Don's most valuable player of 1939. Deardon's election was announced today by Coach Bill Cook, who said the honors accorded the Idaho boy were virtually unanimous.

Cook recommended letters to Captain-elect Deardon, Captain Charley Hall and 10 other players: Larry Monroy, Art Heinisch, Marvin Flittin, Bob Schildmeyer, Andre Pascal, Larry Tway, Del Holan, Bill Reid, Jack Stafford and Don Borden, in addition to Managers Joe Anton and Danny Frias. N. C. A. A. WILL TAKE OVER GOLF TOURNEY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY — (UP)—President W. B. Owens of the National Collegiate Athletic association today announced his organization this year will take over jurisdiction of the National intercollegiate golf tournament, jointly with the United States Golf association.

The U. S. G. A. will supervise the play and decide rules of the game, Owens said.

OREGON HURLS DEFY TO CALIF. BASKET RIVALS

BERKELEY.—(UP)—Kenneth Priestley, graduate manager of the University of California, banded "ultimatums" today with the University of Oregon's athletic board over the question of postponing the Pacific Coast conference basketball championship playoff.

As a result of a tie for first place in the Southern division between California and U.S.C., Priestley announced the coast playoffs would be held March 16, 17 and 18 after the California-U.S.C. playoff here March 11.

The latter one-game playoff will be held here as the result of a flip of a coin between Willis Hunter, S. C. athletic director, and Stan Barnes, California alum.

The coast championship playoff between Oregon, Northern division winner, and the Southern division champion, had been scheduled for March 11, 13 and 14 at Eugene, Ore.

Priestley's announcement of the postponement was followed immediately by charges from the Oregon athletic board of "dictatorial tactics of California officials."

The board refused to approve postponement of the championships and announced that the Southern division winner would meet the Oregon squad March 11, 13 and 14, or not at all.

Board members said that in the event the California winner refuses to play on the originally scheduled dates the record of the Oregon team will be forwarded to John Bunn of Stanford, coast N.C.A.A. representative. It will be forwarded, they said, with the request that Oregon be chosen to participate in the Treasure Island tournament at San Francisco March 20 and 21, in which it had been planned to enter the winner of the coast playoff.

Don Netters To Play Poets And Occidental

Fresh from a victory over Glendale, Santa Ana junior college tennis players take on Whittier college tomorrow on the Santa Ana high school courts. It will be a non-conference tilt.

Lloyd Babcock, first singles, will lead the Dons, with Bill Holland, Marvin Jacobs and Bill Hill competing in the singles. Santa Ana's doubles teams will be composed of Art Hooker and Carroll Richardson, Bob Mize and Bob Heath.

The Dons travel to Occidental college Saturday.

'JACKETS, CHAFFEY PLAY SECOND GAME

FULLERTON—A third consecutive Eastern division basketball crown will come to Fullerton tonight if the powerful Hornets whip Chaffey junior college in the second playoff game. Coach Art Nunn's Yellowjackets trounced the Panthers last week on the loser's court 52-39 and will be favored to finish the series on the Fullerton hardwood.

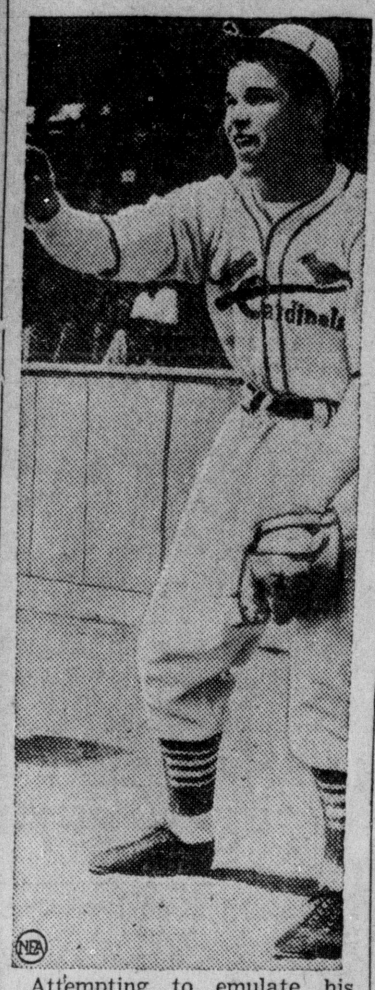

A win for the sensational Hornets will run their string of victories to 30 over the three-year period in which no conference quintet has defeated Fullerton. It will be also the 15th straight victory over the Chaffey team for Fullerton's rampaging Hornets.

Playing in their last game, unless a Chaffey victory forces another game, will be Capt. Tom Keesey, brilliant high-scoring forward and an almost certain choice for All-Southern California honors; Homer Joyner, probably the highest scoring guard in the Southland; Jim Stacy and Les Smith.

Anaheim To Fete Seattle Owner

ANAHEIM—Owner Emil G. Sick of the Seattle Rainier baseball club will be the honored guest and one of the speakers at Wednesday's baseball luncheon sponsored by the chamber of commerce. Manager Jack Leivelt and a number of Seattle's players, now training here, will be special guests.

Another Sisler

Attempting to emulate his father, whose feats at first base landed him in Baseball's Hall of Fame, 19-year-old Dick Sisler is shown at the St. Louis Cardinals' camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is getting a tryout. Dick, who pitched for Colgate, stands six feet and weighs more than 200 pounds.

REFEREE IRES MAT PATRONS

The carefully built-up rematch between Tom (Crybaby) Zaharias and Paul Boesch that aroused the interest of the fans last week (on account of a riot staged by the principals) went sour last night at the Orange County Athletic club. Reason: Boesch found it impossible to lick both Zaharias and the referee, Joe Varga.

The plot had been carefully planned for a real rough-and-tumble main event but Varga allowed Zaharias to use every kind of illegal hold known to wrestling, from rubbing cigarette butts into Boesch's eyes to strangling holds. This all but causing more excitable fans to climb into the ring and take the official and Zaharias apart.

Zaharias took the first fall by apparently blinding Boesch with a handful of rubbish that was concealed in his trunk, followed up with a body press in 11 m. 54 s. Boesch won the second in 7 m. 36 s. with a series of billie goat butts. Zaharias came out for the third using every kind of dirt imaginable, but Varga couldn't be bothered and allowed the fiasco to continue until Zaharias floored Boesch with a haymaker to the

KAYAK OUT OF $25,000 STAKE RACE SATURDAY

BY TOM GWYNNE
(Register Track Correspondent)

Santa Anita's spectacular season is now rolling down the homestretch, but the $10,000 California-bred championship tomorrow and the $25,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap Saturday will be decidedly anti-climax turf fare. After Kayak II's breathtaking triumph in the 100 grander, almost any of the Arcadia horse park could offer would be lukewarm. Red hot thrillers like the big race don't come often. Then too, Kayak II won't venture forth again at the meeting.

There really isn't much after-math to the big race. Kayak didn't leave any room for arguments. He said it all Saturday.

Which goes Saturday Trainer Darrel Cannon, a pretty fair horseman, was anxious to know if Kayak would start next Saturday. "There wouldn't be much use chasing him home," he laughed. "He probably would win easier going a mile-and-a-half than he did at a mile-and-a-quarter." Cannon should know. He sent Whichoe out Saturday and now plans to take a fling at the finale with his charge.

left in Kayak's wake concerns the speed of the racing strip Saturday as compared to last year when Stagehand won. Having galloped around the course on my trusty saddle pony on the morning of each race, and checked the findings with Herman Rod, the track superintendent, I can confidently state that the course was slightly slower for Kayak's race. This was due mainly to the storm last year when the track was constantly rolled to keep the rain from making inroads on it, and consequently had a hard bottom to it. Kayak's race, in my opinion, was easily the better of the two.

The closing headline Saturday, although there will be a charity day Monday, drew a bumper crop of 35 nominations, and may easily wind up in being a wide open skirmish. There is little line on many of the nominees at the

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Henry Bonura is the most talked-of player in baseball at the moment.

To remain so the Giants' Louisiana Purchase has to do only half of what the New Yorkers expect. Bonura scarcely can miss whacking the sphere for magnificent distances.

His remarking by Bill Terry, a master first baseman who seeks to get him on his toes, will be watched with interest.

Records you study the case why Washington peddled Zeke Bonura and why the American League permitted his sale to a National League club.

Washington doesn't need the big man from the south any more than Jack Roper will have use for a mask when he tackles Joe Louis in Los Angeles, April 18.

Bonura says J. Louis Comiskey,

Lou Comiskey Zeke Bonura

owner of the go-along White Sox, blocked his sale to the Cubs.

The ignited Italian was offered $15,000 a year by Detroit.

He asserts that Cleveland held up waivers on him for a time. Bonura declares that Gabby Hartnett told him during the minor league meeting in New Orleans in December that the Cubs had him as good as purchased.

The Bruins wanted Bonura for more reasons than one. Jimmy Collins having had his fling, Hartnett has announced that he intends to give Phil Cavaretta another whirl.

Comiskey Fears Loss Of Italian-American Trade

Bonura would settle an unsettled Cub first basing situation.

He also would attract the entire Italian-American population of Chicago on the White Sox rival park on the opposite side of the city.

Bonura was voted an automobile as the most popular athlete on either Chicago outfit in 1937.

His reward for that was shipment to Washington in exchange for Joe Kuhel.

It is true that he had been something of a problem child and that he had held out, but the pleaded to remain when he realized that Comiskey meant to get rid of him.

The Loyola of the South product belonged in and to Chicago. Babe Herman never was more at home in Brooklyn.

Lou Comiskey had good reason to keep him out of Chicago, for which William Harold Terry is duly thankful.

The baffing Bonura is worth a roomful of Johnny McCarthys and Sambo Leslies.

And gives Horace Stoneham's outfit, which required something of the kind, a counter-attraction

NEW MANAGER THINKS TEAM CAN BE STRONG

Ben Koral—"Bomo" to you and you—will manage Santa Ana's Stars through their 1939 National Night league softball season.

His appointment was officially announced today by Horace Snow, acting business manager of the club. Koral immediately accepted. He succeeds Ray (Doc) Smith, who resigned after a two-year term at the conclusion of the 1938 schedule last September.

One of the most popular players in the National league as well as probably its ablest catcher, Koral said he hopes to rekindle interest and enthusiasm in the city's "big time" night ball team. "Pitching will be our biggest problem," Koral admitted, "but we will field a strong outfit. I figure we have a good chance to get somewhere if some of the deals we have in the fire materialize."

Played With Musick

Koral is a former Santa Ana high school and junior college athlete. He was a blocking back on the same Saint team that Jim Musick starred with in 1927, and "Bomo" went on to captain the Dons during his sophomore season. He played tackle at jaycee. A serious knee injury cut him down at mid-season and nipped what promised to be a fine career at a major college. Koral also was active in school baseball as a catcher and several years ago had a tryout with the Los Angeles Angels.

Night leaguers know him as a husky, aggressive player around home plate, a catcher who won't hesitate to block off the biggest and toughest of opponents. Although he has had many scrapes on account of this fearlessness, he is a laughing, good-natured chap off the field and is liked and respected by teammates and rivals alike.

Aside from Smith, the former manager whose plans are not definite, Koral expects back most of last year's regulars. However, Pitcher Stan Jacobsmeyer is at the University of California and may not be available on account of some summer camp work. Jacobsmeyer majors in forestry.

Koral said he hoped to persuade Smith to play again this season. "The rest of our infield is set with Bob Mott at first, Joe Koral at second and Tommy Young on third," said Bomo. "But, believe me, everybody's going to have to win his job on merit. That goes for me, too."

BUDGE, PERRY OPEN TOUR FRIDAY NIGHT

MONTREAL. — (UP)—Don Budge, who defeated Ellsworth Vines 22 matches to 17 in their professional tennis tour, left today for New York, where he will begin another series against Fred Perry Friday night.

Budge ended his tour with Vines by scoring a 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 victory here last night. It gained him the Canadian professional tennis title, which was put into competition for the first time.

Buena Park Woman's Club Celebrates 50th Birthday

HUNDREDS TO TAKE PART IN GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY FETE

BUENA PARK, March 7.—The Buena Park Woman's club, oldest in Orange county, tomorrow will celebrate its golden anniversary.

The celebration will begin tomorrow evening with a dinner at the clubhouse, at which time the husbands of members will be present. Former club members and people who have been residents of Buena Park for more than 25 years are to be special guests. Mrs. Carl Snyder, an accomplished musician, is in charge of the program tomorrow night.

MacMurray Heads New Show Today

Madeline Carroll and Fred MacMurray make a spirited bid for the starring honors of the year in their new (and first) picture together, "Cafe Society," which has its local opening today at the Broadway theater. Manager George King announces. Shirley Ross co-stars. Miss Carroll gets a chance to display her rare beauty and her acting ability, as well, in this high-spirited comedy satirizing New York's much publicized "aristocracy of the night clubs."

"Cafe Society" deals with the romantic experiences of a spoiled and bored young society girl who uses a newspaper reporter (MacMurray) as the butt of a cruel joke and marries him in order to find a new thrill and get her name in the papers. How he unexpectedly turns on her, spoils her fun and finally teaches her the truth forms the gay plot of the film.

"Arizona Legion," the supporting feature, stars George O'Brien in a fast-moving western in which the hero is compelled to masquerade as a criminal to track down a dangerous group of bandits. Color cartoon and newsreel complete the bill.

First Amateur Assembly Success

Santa Ana Junior college's first amateur assembly yesterday morning at Willard auditorium today was hailed as one of the most outstanding student assemblies ever held by the jays.

Cash prizes were awarded four winning contestants by the Associated Students. Vernon Worden, Bruce Buell, Margaret Jaberger, and Romola Narducci tied for the $10 award because no definite first, second and third place winners could be determined by applause from the audience.

Worden and Buell sang solos, while Miss Jaberger offered a violin solo, and Narducci gave two readings. Wally Grigg acted as master of ceremonies. Others who participated in the assembly included Dorothy Egginton, Betty Jo Henderson, Byron Quivey, and Dale Heinley. The assembly was arranged by Donn Hart, commissioner of forensics and assemblies.

Debate Winners To Be Announced

Debaters in the junior college Eastern conference will know tonight who will be crowned champions for the current season on the question: "Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business."

Santa Ana Junior college debaters traveled to Pomona Jay-see tonight to close this season's competition. Representing the Dons are Isamu Masuda, Gil Brookings, Edward Budd, and James Tranter. Ernest Barrett also was to accompany the group.

Debates have been held in a round robin fashion, with debaters arguing on both sides of the question. Results of the individual contests were not revealed by the judges at the time of the debates. Judges sealed their results, and these will be opened tonight.

Rain Forecast For California

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—(UP)—The weather bureau, forecasting a possible end of the three weeks' dry spell that has threatened possible widespread harm to agriculture in Northern and Central California, today flatly predicted rain for most of the state tonight and Wednesday.

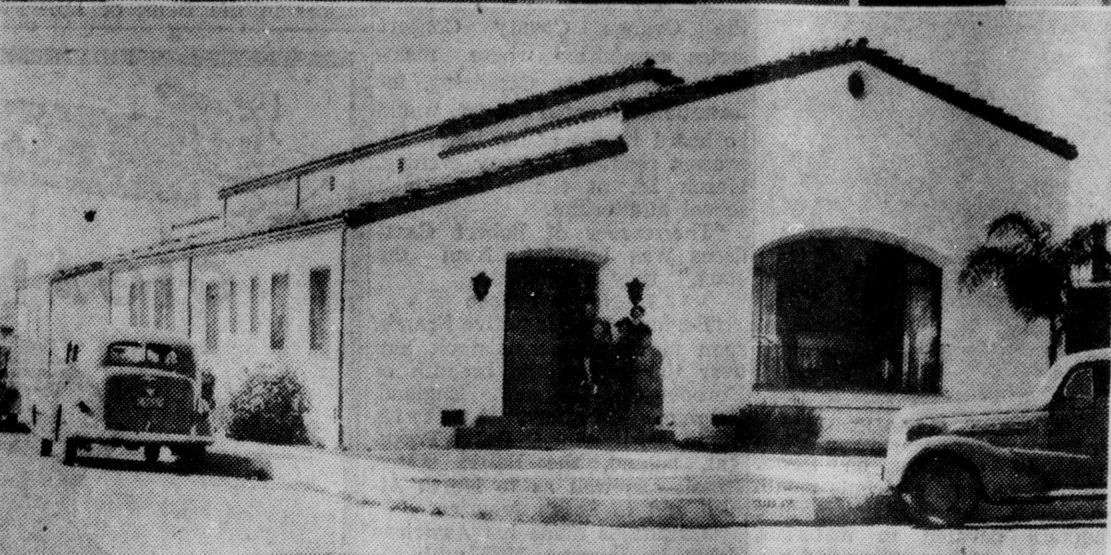

The "drought" appeared to be cracking yesterday and today, with light but general rainfall in Northern California.

Occasional rain during the next 24 hours was predicted for the Sacramento, Santa Clara, Salinas and San Joaquin valleys. Showers were forecast for the San Francisco bay region. Snow was forecast for the Sierra Nevadas, and Southern California was scheduled to get rain in the western section.

A watch 9½ inches in diameter is exhibited in the National Museum at Washington, D. C. It is said to be the largest watch in the world.

COUNCIL LAYS PLAN TO SELL 380 LOTS

City council is going into the real estate business in "big time" style, according to indications at council meeting last night when it adopted a resolution, asking the county supervisors to cancel taxes on 380 tax-claimed lots given to the city by the state.

The council agreed to pay the county $1 for each of the 380 lots, the money to be used in locating owners, checking the lots and the amounts of taxes now standing against them. When the supervisors complete cancellation of the taxes, the lots will be offered to the public for sale. Such tax-claimed lots may revert to the city any time after the owner fails to pay taxes on them for five years.

To Accept Deeds

Council also adopted a resolution agreeing to accept deeds to 35 other lots being quit-claimed by former owners. Owners of the 35 lots will receive $10 each for the first lot quit-claimed and $5 each for all of their other lots likewise quit-claimed. The 35 lots, therefore, will cost the city $280. The 35 lots are located south of Fairview and east and west of Main. A total of 1200 tax-claimed lots, practically in the south part of the city, will be given back to the city, then sold, before the city quits its real estate activities. City Auditor Lloyd Banks stated, Banks, later, will prepare a map showing exact location of all lots to be sold and will have it available for the public, at his office.

FILM ON JOB-GETTING

Manager George King of the Broadway announced today he has contracted with John Nesbitt, well-known radio commentator, of "The Passing Parade," for a showing of his latest short feature, "New Roadways," which has been acclaimed by critics "the short of the month." Evangelist Ends Local Services

The special evangelistic services at the United Brethren church, west Third and Shelton streets, which have been in progress since February 12th, with the Rev. C. C. Dillavou, evangelist, of Los Angeles, helping the pastor, the Rev. Everett E. Johnson, have ended.

The Rev. Mr. Dillavou delivered two stirring sermons on Sunday morning and evening. In Sunday evening's service the young ladies trio and Glenn Johnson, of the local church, sang "The Wayside Cross," the electrically lighted cross being on the platform. The Rev. Mr. Dillavou's son, Marvin, presided at the organ and Gertrude Yount, of the local church, at the piano.

At the close of the service the pastor commented upon the faithfulness of the members and friends of the church in their attendance at the services.

Penthouse Plans Hit City Snag

W. H. Siemsen, 1810 North Main street, cannot make of his home a commercial place with a residence penthouse above it, as he wishes to do, unless he has the electrical wiring covered as required of commercial structures, according to a decision of city council last night. Council informed Siemsen that it would require an amendment to the electrical ordinance to permit him to proceed with plans without having all wiring covered properly. Siemsen complained that would cost him more than $300, which he could not afford to pay. Siemsen contended the present wiring in his home is fireproof and no change should be necessary.

For new jobs, new hope for today's young Americans," King said. This unusual film is tentatively booked for next Sunday at the Broadway.

Survey Cost On Poultry Meat

A poultry meat cost study, believed to be the first in the United States, is being started by Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor of Orange county, in co-operation with 15 poultrymen, it was announced today.

All items of cost and income will be totaled in the study. Different breeds, feed cost, mortality, general management and equipment are factors which will be included in the new study.

A big increase in the fryer business in Orange county has been recorded in the past two or three years. The cost study will be continued for several years.

GARDEN BOOK WEEK MARKED

National Garden Book week is being observed from March 5 to March 11 and a list of books relating to gardening has been compiled by Miss Ethel Walker, librarian of the Santa Ana public library.

"Among the most popular books on our shelves," said Miss Walker today, "are those on all phases of gardening, plants, trees, shrubs, flowers, indoor gardening and flower arrangements."

Another type of book which appeals especially to gardeners—the chatty essay type, as one gardener to another. It is "familiar ground" only to those who speak the same language. Among such books are, "The Countryman's Years," by David Grayson, and "Adam's Profession and Its Conquest by Eve," by Julian Meade. Grayson's book is delightfully sincere, a genuine mood creation while "Adam's Profession" as the title suggests is sharply satirical but none the less delightful.

During National Garden Book week, a list of available books on gardening to be found at the public library will be presented to garden clubs of the city and may be obtained at the library by any patrons who ask for them. A display of books on gardening is being featured and artistic posters have been placed in a number of downtown store windows.

Included in books to be listed on general gardening are "Practical Book of Garden Structure and Design," by Ebenlein, a book well illustrated and containing a wealth of information; "Gardens and Gardening Studio Year Book for 1938"; "Gardening on Nothing a Year," M. S. Griffith; "The Living Garden," E. J. Salsbury, scientific horticulture in popular terms.

Books on plant materials: "South African Plants," S. V. Coombs; "Annuals for Your Garden," S. J. Foley, 32 color illustrations; "Jenkin's Vines for Every Garden," "Garden Calendar, Annuals and Perennials," "Bigger and Better Roses," G. F. Mappin; "Annuals of English Origin," "Garden Bulbs in Color," J. H. McFarland, author of "Garden Flowers in Color and Roses of the World in Color," "Iris Culture for Amateurs," R. E. S. Spencer; "Grow Them Indoors," A. H. Wood.

Well Illustrated Books relating to landscape design and lawn furniture include: "Garden Decoration and Ornament," Gertrude Jekyle and Christopher Hussey; "Planning the Home Grounds," Matschat; "Fragrance in the Garden," by Dorance is well illustrated and lists fragrant plants, curious as well as familiar ones.

Books on flower arrangement: "Design in Flower Arrangement," by J. T. Arms, the importance of composition emphasized rather than color and arrangements shown in photographs and analyzed; "East and West," J. Gregory Conway, an author at present giving a series of lectures in Santa Ana, has produced the most beautiful book on flower arrangement which has appeared to date in Miss Walker's opinion.

Other books in the same class are "Japanese Flower Arrangements," by Preininger; "Flowers in House and Garden," Constance

THE NEBBES

To Play in S. A.

ROBERT CASADESUS

Spry, 10 chapters on flower growing and arrangements month by month, the remaining three chapters devoted to materials, cases, etc., with wedding and holiday decorations outlined; "The Works Progress Administration Flower Arrangement Scrapbook," made up of material carefully selected from recent magazines.

New Dictionary "The Garden Dictionary" by Norman Taylor, is a practical encyclopedia of practical horticulture. "Hardy Californians," by Lester Rowntree, will be of especial interest to Californians. In the preface of the book the author states, "What I have tried to do is to convey to those who garden as well as to those who don't, something of the loveliness and garden possibilities of certain less familiar native hardy plants of California." That she has been successful is well established by the appreciation of reviewers and readers, says Miss Walker.

New Secretary For Club Named

LAGUNA BEACH, March 7.—At the recent meeting of J. W. McKinney post, Woman's Relief corps, Loretta Garbarino was elected treasurer; President Helen Cummings presented one application for membership, and reports covering activities during 1938 were rendered by various committees. The W. R. C. charter was draped in black, in memory of Clara Holland, past department president, recently deceased. Under direction of the ways and means committee, plans are nearing completion for a bridge tournament, scheduled to commence on March 20; as an innovation, an experienced teacher will be available to initiate beginners into the intricacies of contract.

Internationally Known Pianist To Appear Here

Another interesting musical event was announced today by the Orange County Concert series committee whose members said Robert Casadesus, internationally noted pianist, would be heard in one of his inimitable concert recitals, Tuesday evening, March 14, at Santa Ana high school auditorium.

"The career of Robert Casadesus was brilliant from the start," they explained.

In Native France, "Beginning in his native France, soon his engagements took him over the length and breadth of Europe—to Holland, England, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Spain, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal, Poland, the Baltic states, Russia—as well as to North Africa and to South America."

"Casadesus made his American debut in January, 1935 with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. In the audience was Arturo Toscanini who was so impressed with the performance that he went backstage, congratulated Casadesus, and asked him to play with him the following season. The only pianists previously to have had the honor of appearances with the Philharmonic Symphony under the baton of the great maestro were Vladimir Horowitz, Ernest Schilling and Jose Iturbi.

Urges Education To Fit the Child

Education to fit the individual child and not arbitrary age regulations for all school children will be one of the aims of the California Association for Childhood Education during the coming year, according to a report made here today by Mrs. Hilda K. Eckles, local representative at the quarterly conference of the association at Fresno last week end.

Mrs. Eckles, president of the Orange county association, said that representatives of more than 2000 elementary teachers took the attitude that "because father learned to read at the age of six is no reason to think that his son is ready to read at the same age."

Don Wilkie Opens Detective Agency

Capt. Don W. Wilkie, of Laguna Beach, today announced the opening of a private detective agency in Santa Ana, with offices in the Bank of America building.

Capt. Wilkie, formerly of the United States secret service, and a son of the former chief of the secret service, John E. Wilkie, will engage in the conduct of criminal and civil investigations.

The first marriage in Plymouth Colony occurred on May 12, 1621.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The House committee on the House floor before Mr. Roosevelt could get back from his naval vacation.

Legislators skidded through the corridors in their haste. The bill was in committee only three days. It was considered at only one session, lasting about three hours. An immediate rule for its immediate consideration was then requested of the rules committee.

Obviously the boys were not taking any chances on having Mr. Roosevelt say this was not enough reorganization for him. They pruned out his attempt to get control of the civil service and the general accounting office; they lopped off his suggested new departments of public welfare and public works; they retained for themselves the right to disapprove and to stop his moves; they gave him a hard yardstick of economy (instead of efficiency) to work with.

It is not much more reorganizing power than they once gave Hoover. They knew he would not like it—but now it is out on the open floor and any changes will have to be made openly.

Note—Of course the legislators trimmed the bill to what they thought could get through congress, and apparently they are not fooling the President in telling him this is the utmost he can expect.

Many a statesman is telling the cloakrooms the Charles Evans Hughes address will be granted by time a place among the immortal speeches of the country. With profound simplicity, it fathomed the deepest inspirations of democracy. Some of his phases will be heard again many times: "We are here not as masters but as servants, not to glory in power but to attest our loyalty to our sovereign, the people." "It is only by wisdom and restraint in our own day that we can make our system last." "We have mass production in opinions as well as in goods." "Representative government (is) not government by direct mass action, but by representation, which means leadership as well as responsiveness and accountability." "What the people really want they generally get." "Exalting the processes of reason." "The wise use of power." "We protect the fundamental right of minorities in order to save democratic government from destroying itself by the excesses of its own power." "No one ever said it better."

Senatorial big-guns are leading for the appointment of Securities Exchange Chairman Bill Douglas to the Supreme Court if and when it comes.

How much they can make of it is not yet evident, but they have stored considerable information about the recent insurance proxy forgery case before the anti-monopoly committee which is new and of interest, even if Douglas does not happen to be Mr. Roosevelt's choice.

It appears to be true that those insurance agents who said they forged insurance proxies were largely CIO unionists. Several tried to inject labor issues in their testimony, saying they were so overworked by the company they did not have time to get valid signatures. These witnesses were produced by Mr. Douglas' SEC. On the second day of their testimony a CIO official gave out a press statement trying to take advantage of the testimony.

Douglas' side of the story will be that he did not know his testimony was loaded with subtle CIO propaganda. His investigators ran across these agents who volunteered the information. He submitted it in good faith, and still believes it was true. He shared the committee's viewpoint later expressed that labor testimony of this kind had no place in a financial investigation such as the anti-monopoly hearing is supposed to be.

This also explains why the committee refused to hear the large number of agents produced by the company to testify they did not forge proxies. These agents are supposed to be members of an anti-CIO union.

There is a law against politicking for jobs in the army, but it generally works like the prohibition law. Three and more contenders are developing for the chief of staff vacancy which comes in August. Some friends of each (not the candidates themselves) are more or less active in a quiet but noticeable way, hopeful they will not get caught.

Maj. Gen. Drum, commander of the second corps area, Governors Island, ranks the appointment.

TUBERCULOSIS HIT IN DRIVE

Six hundred and ninety-five X-ray pictures have been made in Orange county since the arrival of the X-ray truck of the tuberculosis division of the State Department of health a short time ago, it was revealed today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

Community clinics are being held in selected areas where tuberculosis has been shown to be a problem in the past. The next clinic will be held at the Killefer school, Orange, Thursday evening.

Has Own Machine
Clinics have been held at Placentia, Richfield, Buena Park, Westminster, Manzanillo and El Modena districts since the truck arrived here.

The truck is equipped with its own X-ray machine, a dark room and developing tanks. It is planned to examine and X-ray approximately 1200 individuals before the truck is sent to another district.

Supplements Routine
The program is intended to supplement a similar type of routine work performed by the Orange County Health department with the use of a portable X-ray in school rooms and other buildings in various districts.

The county health department took 620 X-ray chest pictures and made 681 chest examinations in the county during the past year. In addition, the department performed 2027 preliminary tuberculin skin tests.

C. P. HUNTINGTON LETTER OF 1885 RECALLS LONG VOYAGE

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Like a breath from the past was a letter which Mrs. Hubert B. Nall discovered recently while going through some papers of her father's, the late August Campbell, stored in an old trunk at her home, 2139 North Flower street.

For this particular letter written by Collis P. Huntington, who in his day was one of the country's greatest railway magnates, alluded to incidents of many years ago when the two men as youths, came to California together on one of the famous voyages "Round the Horn."

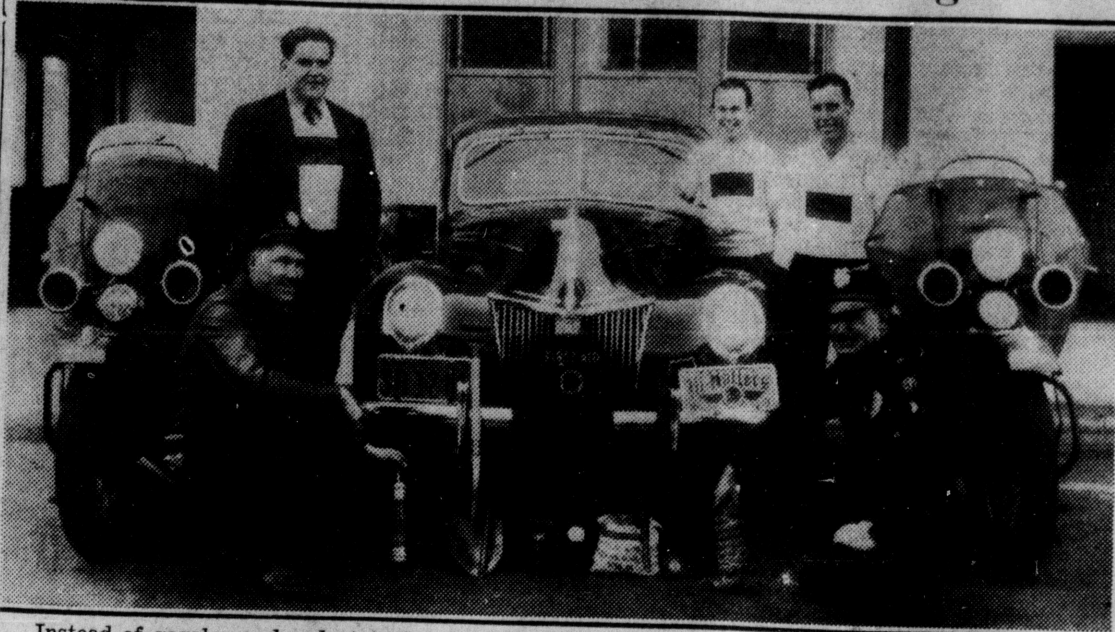

"Piece of Driftwood"
The letter, dated September 26, 1885, of course antedated the modern typewritten missives, and is in a flowing handwriting almost copperplate in its clearness and distinction. As Mrs. Nall read it, she could picture herself as a little girl, listening to her father tell events and incidents of that voyage of the far distant past.

It was sent from the "Office of C. P. Huntington, 23 Broad street, New York," and addressed carefully in the accepted style of that era, to "Aug. Campbell, Esq., East Dubuque, Ill."

In it, the writer says, "Your pleasant favor of the 18th rec'd, and it seemed like a piece of driftwood from the past. I am sorry you did not persevere in your effort to see me when you were here, as I would have liked to see an old fellow voyager on the good ship Humboldt and talk a little bit over old times."

"I doubt if there is any experience of mine in the last 40 years that I remember better or with more genuine enjoyment than the incidents of those far-off days. I don't believe I've forgotten anything that happened on the old Humboldt."

"I remember it all—the old blubber pot; the way we appointed committees to wait on the captain about the beans, etc.; the resolu-

Hi-Hatters Are Prepared For Road Emergencies

Instead of goggles and a duster, the motorist of today carries equipment enough to take care of any emergency that might arise on the highway. The equipment carried by members of the Hi-Hatters automobile club is pictured above between the two police officers and the Hi-Hatter, a shovel, a flare, a camera, a first aid kit, chains, an ax, blankets and a tow-rope. From left to right are shown Officer Ernie Zimmerman, Lowell Hart, of Orange, commander of the Hi-Hatters, Jack Hubbard, Walter Nankervis and Lieut. B. A. Hershey. Once an anti-law menace to motoring, the Hi-Hatters now cooperate with the police officials and are an asset to law-enforcing bodies on the highways of the county.

HI-HATTERS BECOME AIDES TO SANTA ANA POLICE DEPARTMENT

Once the scourge of Santa Ana autoists, now a force for good and helpfulness.

That in a nutshell is the history of the Hi-Hatters, the oldest social automobile club in the state of California.

As organized originally the Hi-Hatters were a menace to society. Today the Hi-Hatters are Lieut. Hershey's chief aides. Every member of the club holds a first aid card presented to them by Dr. James Farrage after they had passed the necessary tests. The Hi Hatters today are subject to call at any hour of the day or night by the Santa Ana police department, and the sheriff's office to give first aid on the highway or any other emergency. The young men work with the California Highway patrol, likewise.

Carry First Aid Kits
Each member's car today is equipped with two flares in case they happen on a wreck on the highways; a first aid kit; a blanket in case someone is injured. Also for the mountains they carry a shovel, an ax, skid chains and a towline. In their safety kits they have a flashlight and a complete change of light bulbs. Each carries a fire extinguisher.

Today the members of the Hi-Hatters make periodical trips in order to locate best roads and best running time to places of interest. Every traffic rule is adhered to on these trips and the results are obtainable by any person wishing to make a similar trip. One of the coming trips will be to the San Francisco fair. It will be a three day journey.

One of the recent trips was to Palm Springs. The club members left Santa Ana on a Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, arriving at Idyllwild where two hours was spent playing in the snow. The trip was then resumed to Palm Springs, where the members enjoyed the desert. They found that the driving time is approximately eight hours.

Group Praised
Lieut. Hershey, who formerly had nothing but grief from members of the club, now declares they are the greatest non-official group of motorists in Southern California and he urges that similar clubs be organized in other cities in the state.

The Hi-Hatters boast a membership of approximately 40 young men from various parts of the county. Lowell Hart, of Orange, is the commander of the club and holds weekly meetings with Lieut. Hershey and Police Chief Floyd W. Howard where traffic problems are discussed and later taken up at meetings of the club.

"Very truly yours,
"C. P. HUNTINGTON."
That interesting California shrine for treasures of art and history, the Huntington library at San Marino, made possible by the wealth left by Collis P. Huntington, has attempted to persuade Mrs. Nall to let them have the letter to add to their collection of relics of the family. However, she prizes it too highly as a memento of her father, and plans to retain it for her own family, the son and daughter of the home, Hubert Jr. and Miss Frances Nall.

Halt of Relief Checks to Aliens*S. A. OPTIMIST CLUB PLEDGED

Organization plans for a Santa Ana Optimist club were revealed today by Gerry H. Lockner, field representative of Optimist International. Members of this service club will consist of male business executives, owners of mercantile and store establishments, Lockner said. "After sufficient members have been enrolled noon day meetings will be conducted weekly."

Objectives Cited
According to Lockner, the objectives of Optimist International are:

"To develop Optimism as a philosophy of life; to promote an active interest in good government and civic affairs; to inspire respect for law; to promote patriotism and to work for international accord and friendship. To engage in and encourage juvenile welfare work, the slogan of the organization being 'Friend of the Boy.'"

Orange county headquarters have been established at Room 24, Arcade building.

Safety Education
Prior to Lockner's affiliation with Optimist International he was identified with the California State Department of Motor Vehicles in the capacity of supervisor of traffic safety education. He is well known here having assisted in an advisory capacity the formation of the Santa Ana traffic safety commission of which Elmer Heidt is chairman. During the past year Lockner served as president of the Western Safety Conference and at present is president of the Service Clubs' Council of Los Angeles, composed of presidents of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Optimist, Altrusa, Sorop, Altrurian, Zonta and 20-30 service clubs.

S. A. Boy, 16,
Faces 3 Counts

A 16-year-old Santa Ana boy today faced prosecution on three separate traffic violations following a chase in which Officers W. H. Heard and Ernest Zimmerman proved to be successful. The youth probably will be certified to juvenile court within a few days by City Judge J. G. Mitchell since that is the usual procedure. The youth is charged with reckless driving, driving without muffler on his car and running through a boulevard stop.

The officers alleged the boy, with several companions, was racing in the car near St. Andrews place and Sycamore street, Sunday at 8:10 p. m. The officers reported the boy turned the corner coming off Sycamore onto St. Gertrude place at high speed and slid through the boulevard stop at Main street, then drove to Russell street where he was stopped.

The communication emphasized that business is close to the breaking point in trying to carry the ever-increasing burden of relief and other constantly ascending governmental costs. It pointed out that a substantial saving could be made in a very short time by attacking the alien indigent problem. It was pointed out that in addition to the SRA and county welfare cost for aliens, Orange county taxpayers are heavily burdened on their behalf through jail, court, school, medical and hospitalization costs.

Would Return Policy
"Our investigation," the letter said, "indicates very clearly that the voluntary repatriation of thousands of Mexican aliens from this

Long-Fay Wedding Has Pretty Chapel Setting

Miss Margaret C. Fay of Anaheim and Edward E. Long Jr. of Alhambra were bride and bridegroom at quiet rites Sunday afternoon in Santa Ana Wedding chapel, where the Rev. Earl C. Bloss officiated.

Four o'clock was the hour for the wedding, attended by a group of close friends. The bride wore a fur-trimmed bolero suit in turquoise blue, with blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Her sister, Miss Z. Pearl Fay of Anaheim, as maid of honor, also wore a blue costume with gardenias. Ross Boardman of Alhambra was best man.

The bride's father, Hiram J. Fay gave her away. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Long of Alhambra were among the guests. The new Mr. and Mrs. Long will make their home in Alhambra.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANN MEREDITH

"Land of the Burnt Thigh," the thrilling true story of two girls who homesteaded land in South Dakota in the Theodore Roosevelt era, tells of such homely things as neighborhood get-togethers for a feast of hot biscuits with a spread of sorghum... molasses to you and me. Today's featured recipe revives the idea in:

Egg Butter
Bring to a boil 2 cups of sorghum (light brown molasses). Whip 2 eggs to a light froth and fold into the hot sorghum, first removing vessel from fire. Whip well, pour into a wide-mouthed pitcher, dust top with nutmeg and serve with waffles or hot biscuits.

—Contributed.
Waffles or a regiment of hot biscuits served with this delicious hot spread, and coffee or cocoa, will delight your young people after a skating party.

You are invited to exchange your "heirloom" recipes, your modern favorites, or your pet labor-saving ideas, for a copy of the Calory List with its new addition: Alcoholic Beverages. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your contribution.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Delmonico Pudding
1 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in 1/4 cup cold water.
Pinch of salt
1 cup thin cream
2 egg yolks, beaten and strained
1/4 cup, each chopped walnuts and dates.
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
2 eggwhites beaten stiff with 8 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice added to meringue.

—Contributed.
Scald pineapple juice in double boiler with sugar and salt. Stir in dissolved cornstarch, stir until thick, then cook 20 minutes to clear the mixture. When the pineapple sauce is clear pour in cup of cream and whip hard. Stir in, next, beaten strained egg yolks and cook about 5 minutes, until the sauce takes on the appearance of custard. Add nuts and dates with lemon extract, pour custard into a shallow buttered pudding dish and top with mounds of egg white whipped with sugar; add the lemon juice after the whites have been beaten stiff. Brown in a slow oven, then chill. The recipe serves eight.

This chilled pudding is recommended for dessert when you have invited several people for dinner, it is a grand Sunday dessert, because it can be made on Saturday.

Orange Tea Cakes
Cream 6 tablespoons soft butter with 2-3 cup sugar to the fluffy stage. Measure 1 1/4 cups sifted cake flour into sifter and sift twice with 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 cup cold water 1/2 teaspoon almond extract 2 stiffly beaten egg whites Alternate sifted flour and cold water in mixing these ingredients with creamed part. Add extract

Hospitality Inspired By Golden Jubilee of D. A. R.

Choosing the Golden Jubilee of Daughters of the American Revolution as appropriate time to celebrate their own 23rd anniversary, Santa Ana Daughters last night staged their annual guest night event in the home of Mrs. E. G. Summers, 2301 North Flower street.

Flowers used in attractive arrangement about the charming home, suggested by the preponderance of yellow blossoms, the national celebration. Only a short interval was devoted to business affairs under direction of Mrs. Cotton Mather, regent. But she took occasion to present two of the special guests, the Misses Harriet Spicer and Grace Cox, who had scored first and second in the Good Citizenship Pilgrimage contest staged by the chapter.

The chapter medal was awarded Miss Spicer. Announcement was made also that the Monrovia High school girl who was winner in the state elimination contest, will be privileged to attend the Continental Congress to convene in Washington next month. Messrs. Lynn Crawford, principal and Robert Farrar, vice principal of Santa Ana High school, explained points in the contest, and the school's participation.

Varied Program
Mrs. I. R. Hendrie as program chairman, presented those taking part in a very interesting interval. Mrs. Jesse Albright gave a concise history of the local chapter from its founding on March 11, 1916 to the present. Mrs. Charles G. Nalle sang several delightful solos; Mrs. Julia Constance Layman gave a group of humorous readings, and Mona Summers Smith, daughter of the home, delighted the guests with her clever review of the play, "I'd Rather Be Right."

For the refreshment hour with which the friendly hospitality reached its climax, Mrs. Hendrie and Mrs. A. J. McFadden took their places at the dining room table, where candles and flowers were in the prevailing sunny hues. Mrs. Summers had the assistance of a hostess group comprising the Misses Abby and Louise Chapman, Mesdames J. H. Nicholson, DeWitt Dudley, Robert Northcross and J. H. Wright.

In addition to husbands of members, the special guest group included the two essay contestants, the Misses Harriet Spicer and Grace Cox, Miss Adelaide Proctor of Orange; Mrs. David Ball, Messrs. and Mesdames Lynn Crawford and Robert Farrar. Mrs. Mather has announced the next Council meeting to be held March 21 in Los Angeles Elks club. Members planning to attend are asked to telephone her reservations by March 17.

Girl Reserves Entertain At Waffle Breakfast

Tri-Y Girl Reserves gave the first of a duo of waffle breakfasts Saturday in the Y.W.C.A. rooms, where more than 50 guests shared this informal hospitality. Waffles were served from 7 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Marjorie McCulloch, Girl Reserve secretary, aided in carrying out plans for the event, proceeds of which will go to the Tri-Y Asilomar fund. The Misses Mary Markel, Verna Belle Maroney and Anita Wasson took charge of ticket sales. On the kitchen and serving committee were the Misses Roberta Corcoran, Dorothy Ashford, Barbara Brisco, Eugenia Bond, Mildred Lockett, Lorna Gittins, Francis Head and Enid Jones.

The same hours as were observed for this first affair will be in effect for the next breakfast, March 18 in the Y. W. rooms. The public is invited to attend.

City-wide Girl Reserve recognition service will be held Sunday, March 19 at 4 p. m. in First Presbyterian sanctuary. Another annual event, the mother-daughter fashion tea, will be held March 29 from 3:30 to 5 p. m. in the Y. W. rooms under auspices of Girl Reserve committee and Mothers Council.

and fold in whipped whites. Line muffin tins with paper muffin cups (oil them) and bake 15 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Icing For Cakes
1 cup sifted powdered sugar
3 tablespoons melted hot butter
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
Orange juice to mix to spreading consistency
Candied orange peel and angelica.

Mix butter with powdered sugar and grated peel. Add orange juice, drop by drop, until icing reaches a soft spreading consistency. Ice tops of cakes, only (they are served in the paper cups for neatness). Cut petals from candied orange peel, arrange on top of each cake and center with tiny upright slivers of angelica, or a candied cherry.

Anaheim Couple Exchange Vows In Local Chapel

Broadway Wedding chapel was scene of a pretty wedding Saturday night when Miss Imogene Louise Underwood and Robert Stewart Shoupe, both of Anaheim, exchanged vows before the Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of United Presbyterian church. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Underwood, and the bridegroom is son of the Glenn W. Shoupes of Anaheim.

Miss Underwood wore a wisteria frock with gardenias. She was attended by the bridegroom's cousin, Miss Betty Updike, while best man, Music adding to the beauty of the service included "Meditation" from Thais. Thirty-five guests attended the rites. Mr. and Mrs. Shoupe will make their home at 543 South Resh avenue in Anaheim, where the bridegroom is resuming his duties with a grocery store.

Wedding in Mid-February Has Been Announced

Announcement has been made by Mrs. M. E. Wade, 505 1/2 Cypress avenue, of the marriage on February 15, of her daughter, Miss Jane Wade, and Forrest Miller of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Miller of Los Angeles and Fresno.

The wedding of the young people was a very quiet ceremony in Riverside, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Morrison in the study of his parsonage home. The bride wore a smart spring tulle in green with mulberry accessories and a corsage of gardenias and white sweet peas. For the present the new Mr. and Mrs. Miller are occupying the Miller family home in Los Angeles pending their selection of a new address.

Mr. Miller, who graduated from Los Angeles Junior college after completing Manual Arts High school, is with a contracting firm in that city. His bride graduated from Santa Ana High school. She is a sister of Mrs. Ralph Adams (Marylyn Wade) of 1403 West Ninth street.

Eighty-First Birthday Happily Celebrated

According to a happy observance to his 81st birthday anniversary, Charles C. Schultz combined host duties with those of guest of honor at a birthday dinner Saturday evening in his home, 719 East Fifth street.

Now recuperating from a long and serious illness, Mr. Schultz was warmly congratulated upon his returning health, indicated by his ability to take part in birthday activities. The approach of St. Patrick's day was suggested by the green and white theme of table decorations. The cake served with the final dinner course, was decorated in green and white, with small green candles.

Children of the celebrant formed the guest group and included with Mrs. Lou Roberts of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. George Peckham of Torrance.

First Chapter President Installs New Officers

Lending special interest to installation of new officers yesterday for GJ chapter P. E. O. was the fact that Mrs. W. S. Thomson, first GJ president, and now president of Santa Ana Ebell society, conducted the ritualistic rites. The occasion was a luncheon meeting in the home of Mrs. Hiram M. Currey, 2102 North Ross street. Enjoyment of the luncheon menu served on prettily arranged trays, was enhanced by the flower setting the hostess gave her home, with narcissus, primroses and daffodils all breathing the very spirit of spring.

Mrs. Thomson's installation rites placed Mrs. Edward L. Klatt in the office of president; Mrs. R. R. Caldwell, vice-president; Mrs. Allison Honer, recording secretary; Mrs. William J. Stauffer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ellis Diehl, treasurer; Mrs. H. M. Currey, chaplain and Mrs. John Carter, guard.

For their next meeting on March 20, chapter members will be entertained in the R. R. Caldwell home, Tustin.

Sunday School Class Has Progressive Dinner

Young Adult Sunday school class of First Baptist church held a progressive dinner party last night, beginning the affair with the fruit cocktail in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Rittner on West Eighth street.

Salad was served in the home of Mrs. Arline Wisely on Louise street, while the main dinner course was served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robbins, 2425 Valencia avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Royce Edson provided the dessert, which was served in the home of Mrs. Edson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lake of Garden Grove.

The group of 30 members remained in the Lake home for a session of games in which prizes were won by Mrs. Wisely and Robert Ramm, who held the two high scores. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings and Mrs. Owings, teacher of the class, were among those present.

King's Guards Program

At their after-school meeting Monday afternoon in First M. E. social hall, King's Guards worked busily on nature and Bible story scrapbooks to be sent to missionary clinics, hospitals and schools. President Grace Howland was in charge of the business meeting which included the Stewardship ritual conducted by Peggy Ann Tozier. Flora Margaret Howland reported on the collection of California labels, which will be sent to headquarters in April.

Flora Margaret also had charge of the program, reading "Joe Visits the Slums" from the study book, "Street Corners." Piano solos were played by Patsy Bilups, Grace Howland and Georgia Lambros, after which Joan Spencer took the children on a fancied airplane trip to visit the Italian kindergarten in New Orleans. Mrs. H. I. Tway was in charge of the refreshment hour concluding the afternoon.

History is Compiled For Assistance League

Important as were program features at yesterday's meeting of Assistance League in the Calvin C. Flint home, 1927 Heliotrope Drive, they took second place temporarily to the charm of table appointments planned for the luncheon hour, by Mrs. Flint and her co-hostess, Miss Mildred Spicer. For they used camellias in the low bowls centering each table, and everyone was delighted with the variety of colors and forms displayed from the tightly folded little buds to full blown blossoms as large as hibiscus.

There were various business matters to discuss during the session directed by Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, president, but chief importance was attached to the League history as compiled by Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum. In this, Mrs. Plum went back to the days of the League's inception in 1936, and traced its growth and development by the philanthropies it has contributed to the community. This has been done through co-operating with work for Ebell Day Nursery, Tuberculosis seals, flood relief activities, cash donations and hospitalization.

In developing her subject Mrs. Plum not only gave a clear picture of activities of the League as a unit, but of philanthropies of individual members. Her paper was so comprehensive that it will be filed as a permanent record to date of League affairs.

For their next meeting on Monday, March 20, members will be entertained by Mrs. Edward M. Hall and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis in the Hall home, 1901 Heliotrope Drive.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Kelly of Lemon Heights, who are now on a trip east, have been guests at Hotel Commodore while in New York City.

Dr. J. M. Raugh, 731 South Birch street and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Raugh, 1705 West Sixth street spent Sunday in Glendale with Mrs. E. E. Martin. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Maude Miller of the South Birch street address, who had been spending the past few days in Glendale.

Mrs. Cora Rugg, 2029 Bush street returned yesterday from Alhambra, where she spent the past week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Morrison.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Wade, 2426 Heliotrope Drive were at Los Angeles Jonathan club Friday afternoon for a luncheon at which Dr. G. Harvey Agnew of Toronto, Can., was speaker. Dr. Agnew, an old friend of Dr. Wade, is president of the American Hospital association and of the department of hospital service of the Canadian Medical association. His address was given before the Hospital Council of Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Phillips and children, Ted, Nehele and Tony, of San Luis Obispo, were weekend guests of Mr. Phillips' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips and family of Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum, 411 Edgewood Road, returned late the past week from San Francisco where they spent several days with Mr. Plum's mother, Mrs. Charles M. Plum, and with other relatives. They attended the Exposition on Treasure Island.

Larry Gubin, 1416 North Broadway, spent the week end in Monrovia with his mother, Mrs. M. Gubin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watkins of White Gables, 1502 North Ross street, had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Rintoul of Los Angeles. The Rintouls are friends of many years' standing. Mr. Rintoul is general bridge inspector for the Southern Pacific railroad. He and his host were associated in S. P. work for many years. Mr. Shober is in the bridge and building department of the Los Angeles office of the railroad company.

Making their headquarters at Hotel Santa Ana while enjoying a two months' visit here are Dr. J. S. Appleman of Chicago, Ill., and his nieces, Miss Winifred Warren of Chicago and Miss Pauline Warren of New York City. They are uncle and cousins of Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, 303 Orange avenue and of Mrs. Harry Worley of Balboa.

Various Activities Mark Junior Ebell Calendar

Junior Ebell society members are anticipating a month filled to the brim with interesting activities, opening event of which will be a regular meeting tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the clubhouse. In addition, there will be the annual fashion show next Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the clubhouse, and various section meetings.

The program tonight will be given by Marya Ostrava, folk song dramatist, who will present four groups of songs in costume. American born, she learned folk songs of Slavic lands from her Czechoslovakian mother. Miss Ostrava will be accompanied by Hilbert Burton, who also will give several piano solos.

Child Study section will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Adrian Marks, 2412 Riverside Drive. Mrs. James Merigold and Mrs. Ralph Watson will be co-hostesses. Dr. Harold Weatherman will be the speaker.

Contract section will meet March 14 at 7:30 p. m. in the clubhouse lounge. Mrs. J. Willis Bennie will be present to give instruction. Hostesses will be Mesdames Milton Poppett, Luther Davison, John Maxwell and George Nelson.

Modern trends section will meet March 15 at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Charles McDaniel Jr., 2446 North Park boulevard, where dessert will be served in advance of a short business meeting. Mrs. Jack Hanna will be co-hostess. The group will go to Bowers Memorial museum for the doll exhibit and other displays, with the curator, Mrs. F. E. Coulter conducting the tour.

Mrs. Herbert Stroschein will receive First Book Review section March 21 at 7:45 p. m. in her home, 922 Freeman street, with Mesdames Alvin Stauffer, Linus Southwick and Newell Vandermast as co-hostesses. Second Book Review section will meet March 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Miss Ruth Fitz, West Chapman avenue, Garden Grove. The Misses Helen Knox, Eujane Carr, Violet Holter and Opal Ann Nicholson will be co-hostesses. Book review will be given by Mrs. Albert Harvey. Travel section will meet March 17 at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Carleton Smith, 1805 Bush street, with Mrs. Clyde Higgins as co-hostess. Mrs. Albert Eastman will tell of her South American travels.

Youthful Musicians Give Concert for Club

Two of the community's prominent young musicians, Miss Charlotte Stafford, violinist and David Craighead, pianist, provided a concert of rare beauty last night for members of Stanford Women's club in the home of Mrs. Ross Shafer, Lemon Heights.

The charming Shafer home lent itself beautifully to such a program. Members and guests assembled in the large living room for the concert and other enjoyable features. Miss Stafford's first group of violin solos included a lively Polish dance, "Kujawiak" by Wieniawski; "Serenade of the Martial Rabbit"; and the third movement from Wieniawski's "Concerto". Later, she played "Ghost Dance" (Levy) and "Perfect Day" (Carrie Jacobs Bond).

David Craighead gave brilliant renditions of "La Campanella" (Paganini-Liszt); "Ave Marie" (Schubert-Liszt) and "Intermezzo" (Wolf-Ferraro), in addition to playing Miss Stafford's accompaniments.

Miss Doris Burke, president, conducted the meeting, during which members discussed general plans to raise their scholarship fund. Mrs. Shafer and Miss Lella Watson were co-hostesses, serving refreshments at the close of the affair. Of special interest was a personality test conducted by a guest, Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips.

The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Arthur J. Nies in Orange.

Auxiliary Members plan To Fete Staff Officer

Plans to entertain Kathryn Brewer of Ontario, V. F. W. Auxiliary assistant staff officer on March 17, were made by members of Ernest L. Kellogg Auxiliary V. F. W. at their last meeting in V. F. W. hall.

Mrs. Ruth O'Malia, president, was in charge of the meeting. Visitors introduced were Mrs. E. L. Thompson of Kansas City, Kans.; Mrs. Olive Hadley, president of Orange auxiliary, and one of her members, Mrs. Callie Horton; Mesdames Cleta Messer, Harriet Hadwig and Florence Phillips, Fullerton; Lillian Martin, Anaheim.

Mrs. J. A. Randall was initiated into the auxiliary. Announcement was made that Gladys Bowen, president of Fullerton auxiliary, will be V. F. W. speaker Thursday night at 7:15 o'clock over KVOE. Friday evening at 8 o'clock will bring a public bridge party in V. F. W. hall for the benefit of National Widows and Orphans' Home.

Post and auxiliary members joined for a social interval when refreshments were served by Mesdames Glenn Hendrickson, Fred Pope, James Sullivan, Ralph Rowe and S. D. Pemberton.

The March 17th meeting at which Mrs. Brewer will make her official visit, will be the next on the auxiliary calendar.

Styles in Footwear Offer Program Interest

Hostesses Friday afternoon to Girls' Ebell society, the Misses Glenna Jean Deardorff, Nancy Steinberger and Margot Ann Rossetot were privileged to receive their guests in the home of Miss Glenna Jean's grandmother, Mrs. F. M. Thomas, 914 South Main street.

The session opened with the customary tea hour, when dainties were dispensed from a table gleaming with iris and other exquisitely petaled blossoms blending with the green and white decorative effect. Pouring tea were the Misses Betty Jo Froeschle and Virginia Jordan.

During the general business meeting conducted by Miss Barbara Tucker, further plans were outlined for the gala carnival at which Girls' Ebell will entertain Saturday evening, March 18 in the clubhouse. Reports of these plans were given by various chairmen, the Misses Jane Hoiles, general; Dorothy Wall, tickets; Peggy Holloway, publicity; Alice Clare McFarland, concessions, and Marjorie Wall, decorations. Miss Wall had tickets ready for distribution among members in preparation for their disposal to carnival patrons.

Mrs. Alice Peterson as guest speaker for the afternoon, was introduced by Miss Hoiles. She talked informally on the trend of spring models in footwear and had various sandals and slippers to illustrate designs, colors and fabrics of the season.

Mrs. Emrys D. White, state chairman of juniors, Mrs. M. Burr Wellington and Mrs. Ray C. Hoiles, junior advisors, were among Ebell guests present.

Gossard's Famous

jimmie fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 7.—In the tragic case of Anya Sosoyeva, brutally murdered a few days ago as she walked through the campus of a Los Angeles college, there's a significant lesson for the thousands of girls who base their dreams of Hollywood success on some friends remark that . . . "You're a wonderful dancer—you ought to be in pictures."

Anya Sosoyeva was an internationally known dancer. She had toured Europe with a Russian ballet troupe, been featured in the Ziegfeld Follies, been starred in vaudeville. She was beautiful, and she knew "the ropes" which are so important in show business. And yet, at 32, she couldn't get to first base in Hollywood. She had been here for months, trying desperately to get interviews with studio casting directors. They weren't even interested enough to see her.

When a girl with her professional background finds Hollywood so difficult a nut to crack, what chance has a novice, armed with nothing more than a great hope and the compliments of "the gang" back home. Very little, I'm afraid—and yet those optimistic novices keep on trekking to Filmville by the hundreds. Nothing can stop them and, since hope is its own reward, perhaps it's just as well. But I can't understand how any would-be can read the story of Anya Sosoyeva without hesitating for a sober appraisal of the odds against a Hollywood success.

IDOL CHATTER: Beats me why curvaceous Ann Sheridan should bother to study her lines—plenty of people are willing to do it for her. Give Deanna Durbine a penny and you've won a friend—she's regarded them as luck.

MATRON'S NEW JACKET ENSEMBLE
PATTERN 4064
BY ANNE ADAMS

You'll really enjoy making and wearing this . . . if your ambition is a slenderizing spring dress with serene, simple distinction in all its lines! Ensemble pattern 4064 is gracious and smart two ways . . . with or without its jacket. The jacket changes it from an afternoon dress to a street outfit. Also—you'll find that it gives your figure new slimmest! Shirrings present the bodice with the softness you like, while a double panel in the pretty skirt-front guarantees comfort. Instead of the exquisite "lingerie" jabot and collar, you may have a more tailored collarless V neckline.

Pattern 4064 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36, dress, takes 3 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric; collar, jabot and cuffs, 5-8 yard contrast and 3 1/4 yards lace.

charms ever since her first screen character, named "Penny," turned out so well. Fashion note: Joy Hodge, the girl who's so new-fashioned in everything else, is wearing an old-fashioned "Gibson Girl" hairdress—rats and all. Bob Hope likes the one about the actor who was run over by a street car—the poor guy thought the headlight was a "spot" and stopped to take a bow.

Haven't heard Vivien Leigh play a full scene yet, but she's learned to say "Damyantee" convincingly enough. Whenever anyone uses that phrase "Growing old gracefully," I involuntarily think of May Robson. Add Hollywood champions: Lupa Lupino—backgammon queen. Errol Flynn is another of those people about whom it's impossible to be indifferent—either you think he's a grand guy or you dislike him thoroughly. It's girls like Claudette Colbert who make life complex for the cameraman—she refuses to pose with her right profile to the lens.

If there's anything in pre-natal influence, Maureen O'Sullivan's "Little visitor" should be a whiz at climbing trees. The sceptics who call perpetual motion an impossibility aren't necessarily narrow-minded—they just haven't met Jane Withers. Writes Jack McCauley of San Francisco: "In Hollywood, where you have to listen sharply at wedding ceremonies—to tell whether the bride and groom say 'Adieu' or 'I do'."

Some of Hollywood's big-shot stars who do nip-ups unless their lofty condition is proclaimed on every possible occasion might do worse than to hang over their dressing tables framed copies of a memorandum which I saw today in the office of a Universal producer. It gives, by innuendo, one significant reason why a very popular star remains popular. Addressed to the advertising department, it reads as follows: "In publicizing the new Bing Crosby picture, do not refer to Mr. Crosby as a star without his written permission."

Seeing Nancy Kelly in the full-skirted, old-fashioned costumes which she's wearing in "Stanley and Livingstone," it's a constant effort to remember that she is actually a seventeen-year-old adolescent. And the effort is increased by the dramatic nature of her roles. Today, chatting with her on the set, I noticed that the canvas pocket of her set chair was bulging and asked what she was storing there. Here's the detailed inventory, jotted down as she produced each article for inspection: a book, a copy of the script,

Wedding Vows Exchanged At Quiet Home Rites

Uniting two well-known families who have been residents of this community for many years, was the wedding Saturday evening, March 4, of Miss Lucille Knowlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashley Knowlton of Newport boulevard, and Loren C. Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Davis of Tustin, and a grandson of Mrs. Ellen Howes, pioneer Tustin resident.

The young people maintained the utmost simplicity in plans for the wedding which, because of the poor health of the bride's mother, Mrs. Knowlton, took place in the Davis home, 141 South Pacific avenue, Tustin. Flowers lent bride's love to the setting where the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of First Baptist church, conducted the wedding rites.

Miss Knowlton wore foxglove blue with lilac accessories, with which her bouquet of gardenias and violets, blended beautifully. Mr. Knowlton gave his daughter in marriage, but there were no other bridal attendants. The guest group was confined to members of the two families.

The young people left at once for a short honeymoon trip down to Mexico, but will return to go to housekeeping at Villa Park. Mr. Page has an orange grove there, where he had a home all in readiness for his bride. He works for the Burns Cuboid factory and attended Agricultural college at Davis after graduation from Tustin Union High school. His bride went through Santa Ana High school and Junior college, where she was affiliated with Las Meninas. Since graduation she has been employed at Horn's Book store.

Here's an anecdote that spotlights Doug Corrigan's strange-to-Hollywood—humility. When his picture was previewed the other night, the studio, thoroughly made by stars, set aside a block of 20 tickets for his disposal. That afternoon, Doug telephoned that he wouldn't be able to attend. "Please," he urged, "would you mind giving my ticket to my sister? I know she's like to go."

Auxiliary Observes Community Service Night

Observing community service night, members of Legion Auxiliary entertained presidents of various organizations and other special guests at their latest meeting in Veterans hall. Judge J. B. Tucker was speaker, giving an informative talk on "Legal Rights of Women."

Adding to the enjoyment of the occasion was a play, "The Roseville Highway," put on by members of Woman's club Drama section. Mrs. Beulah Duckett, president, conducted a business meeting during which plans were made for initiations to be held at the next meeting, March 16 at 7:30 p. m. in the hall. It was announced that the sale of food extracts for the benefit of the auxiliary will continue this week. Refreshments were served by Mabel Gowdy, Tona Sandon and Edith Bouldin.

Country Club Dance
Santa Ana Country club was rendezvous for a group of members and their guests Saturday night when a monthly dance was held in an attractive setting. There were acacia blossoms and bouquets of mountain lilac to add to the charm of the dance.

Steve Zack and his orchestra provided music for the affair. On the host committee were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber. Mr. and Mrs. George Sattler were among those who entertained guests at the dance.

Former Santa Ana And Fiancee Honored

Wallace B. McClure, formerly of this city, and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Brockman of Corona were among the guests present Sunday evening at a dinner party in the Corona home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Longacre. The affair came as a final get-together of U. S. Forestry officers before their duties separate them.

Mr. Longacre, who has been district ranger for the Trabuco district of Cleveland National Forest, with headquarters in Corona, is being transferred to Mount Shasta to be located in the forest supervisor's office. H. M. French, who is going to Susanville to handle law enforcement in Lassen National Forest, and Mr. McClure, have been forest officers under Mr. Longacre. McClure, however, is remaining in the San Diego and Corona offices.

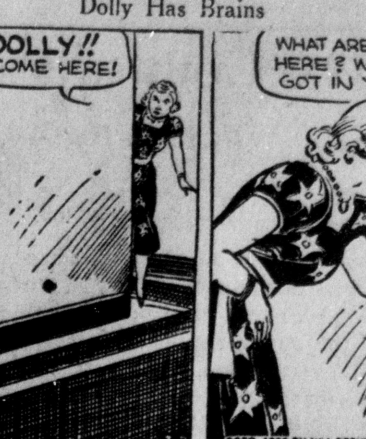

The marriage of Miss Brockman and Mr. McClure is anticipated as an event of this season. The bridegroom-elect is son of Mrs. Margaret McClure of this city. Mrs. McClure, who underwent an operation at St. Joseph hospital several weeks ago, is reported making a satisfactory recovery. Although she is at 530 South Broadway for the present, she will be at home to her friends next week at 1014 North Parton street.

Mrs. George Holmes Gives Pretty Luncheon

Mrs. George Holmes received a dozen guests at luncheon and bridge Saturday afternoon in her home, 1238 South Ross street, where decorations were on spring-time theme. Pastel tints in a mixed bouquet centering the dining room table, were matched by the delicate-hued placecards.

In the living room where cards were in play following luncheon, were many flowers which had been sent by Mrs. W. F. Kistinger. The latter was fortunate in scoring high in bridge, while Mrs. William Williamson scored second high. In addition, Mrs. Williamson received a slam prize as well as a galloping award. Mrs. Joe Steele too won a galloping prize.

Dolly Has Brains

Sewing Group Welcomed

Southwest Sewing club members spent a pleasant afternoon Thursday as guests in the home of Mrs. Lyle Pease, 1442 South Ross street. Club affairs were discussed during a short business session after which the meeting was purely social.

Mrs. Susan Keister was a club guest. The afternoon's door prize was presented Mrs. Elizabeth Tweedy just before Mrs. Pease introduced the refreshment hour when wafers, cake and coffee were served. The next meeting of the friendly group will be with Mrs. B. O. Allen, 1234 South Van Ness avenue.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS

Miss Bernice Hart was hostess at dinner Sunday at Danigers, where she entertained a little group of relatives who were here from Hollywood and Long Beach. The party went to Miss Hart's home, 616 West Fourth street for the remainder of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Baker left late last week for their home in Fort Wayne, Ind., after a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Baker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Smith, 1014 West Camille street. The two couples enjoyed a trip to San Francisco and the Exposition, to the Redwoods and to other scenic points.

John McFarland, son of the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, 303 Orange avenue, returned Sunday from Dallas, Tex., where he spent the past month on business connected with his duties as a member of Sears Roebuck mail order department in Los Angeles. The Rev. Mr. McFarland returned late last week from Sacramento, where as moderator of Presbyterian Synod, he was speaker at a dinner meeting of the Sacramento church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rowland, 336 West Nineteenth street, had as weekend guests, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Max Robinson and two-year-old daughter, Virginia Lee Robinson of San Bernardino. The occasion marked the birthday of Mrs. Robinson (Louise Rowland).

In Yugoslavia, "Kitchen Range" is a popular first name for children, with "Philadelphia" and "Chicago" gaining popularity.

Lace Guild Meeting

Of special interest to Lace Guild members was their meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Hird, 1502 West Third street. Screening of the motion picture "The Silkworm," depicting the art of lace-making, highlighted the event.

Mrs. Hird used jonquils and freesias in decorating for the meeting, which came to a pleasant close with the serving of tea. There were seven members in the group.

Certified Purchasing Agent!

I never saw anybody who can stretch a dollar the way she does! Everything she buys is a good value—and she never seems to get stuck with things that look good, but fall apart the first time they're used.

I told her one day that she'd make the Purchasing Agent of any business look sick. She was pleased when she saw I meant it.

"It's perfectly simple," she said. "I watch the advertisements the same way a stock broker watches the ticker tape. They keep me informed on 'good buys'—and save me a lot of shopping around, as well."

Sounds simple, doesn't it? But I can tell you it's saved this family a lot of money!

AN INDUSTRIAL TRAGEDY

There is a sadness, too, about the "death" of inanimate things. A great ship goes to the breakers' yards on her last voyage, and something of the laughter and tears of vanished passengers echoes about her still.

Even a factory can produce something of that same sense of tragedy, that same echo of past activities and life.

It hangs heavy over the once-great Pierce-Arrow factory at Buffalo. Dies, drills, gauges, once valued in millions, are being sold off in a five-and-ten-cent sale in the quiet aisles of the empty factory. Inkpots and pens that once signed checks for hundreds of thousands, are knocked down for a few cents. Filing cabinets go out, that once held correspondence from every country in the world and the details of a business that meant work for 10,000 men and a payroll in 1918 of $15,000,000.

No sentiment in business? Many of the things sold went to former employees, who could not forget the days of glory when the mighty of many countries rode in cars that were the work of their hands.

CALIFORNIA LABOR BILLS

The American Federation of Labor has sponsored Senate Bill 751 and Assembly Bill 1570 in Sacramento.

This bill would set up an "apprenticeship counsel" regulating apprenticeship through local joint committees. Its stated purpose is to prevent what the sponsors call an over-supply of young workers in any trade.

This would mean that the people who had jobs would be the judge as to whether there was an over-supply and what competition they should have. If they have the right to set high enough wages, they would need mighty few apprentices.

This Bill is a step in the direction of the Caste system. It shows either the thoughtlessness or the selfishness of the labor leaders. They seem to be perfectly willing to get a little temporary advantage even if it wrecks our whole economic structure and eventually leads us into a condition that is not much better than in India—that when a man is born in one position, he must be subservient to those who happen to dictate the policies under that trade. It is a vicious proposal.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

"AMUSEMENT IN THE WRECKING GAME"

A contributor says that I am having some amusement in the wrecking game. Evidently, he makes this statement because I have pointed out what I regarded as the absurdities and ill-effects of the Townsend Recovery Plan, of our taxing system, of collective bargaining, of prorates, of tariffs, of misuse of bank credit. The contributor also says it is a lot more fun on the construction gang.

I agree that it is much more fun to try to build than to destroy.

But I am not destroying anything but certainly am constructive when I point out the weaknesses and the impracticability of the Townsend Recovery Plan.

Constructive Idea

The contributor suggests that I propose a better recovery plan. My idea of a plan that will best promote the general welfare is, as I have repeatedly said, to eliminate all laws including taxes and customs that interfere with free exchanges of goods and services.

It seems to me that it is a very constructive program to point out a policy that one believes will benefit everybody and not a few at the expense of others.

This program is the only one I believe would build character and result in prosperity. It is in reality a return to the fundamental principles of the philosophy of Christianity, namely:

1. That each individual should be allowed to make decisions with the least possible coercion from the government or from others;
2. That it is more blessed to put more into the world than you take out;
3. That no one has a moral right to give something, or an idea, to another that will do him harm, simply because it makes the giver feel important and happy;
4. That no one has the right to insist on other people doing something for others that he himself is not doing more or less successfully.

If the people of the United States will return to these principles and let assistance be private and voluntary or by the local subdivisions, rather than by the Federal Government, then we will have a constructive program that history teaches has always resulted in great development and prosperity.

STRIKERS CONTINUE TO BE EMPLOYES

It is impossible for any man who has ever taken risks and employed labor to believe that there can be very much improvement in employment and production, so long as the present Wagner Law exists.

Many people have remarked that "the Supreme Court certainly gave a great blow to the administration in its recent decision on the Wagner Act."

In this decision, there were three conflicting conclusions by the judges. Some of the judges did agree that if there were a sit-down strike, the employer had a right to discharge his men, but all the judges agree that if the employees simply struck, for no matter how long, or how unreasonable the demand, the employer had no right to regard the men discharged.

If any man who has ever tried to render service thinks that it is possible for business to function when men can quit work collectively and stay quit as long as they want to, because the employer does not meet any demand that they might make and that this employer can still stay in business, then these people simply know nothing about business and how wealth is created.

And as long as that condition exists, no man, whose judgment will enable him to long stay in business will ever consider going in business of any consequence. He knows simply that he is at the mercy of the voting majority of his employees; that they can ask for a million dollars a day and go on strike and he cannot promise any other workers steady jobs. And he knows that they cannot get other men to come in temporarily and do the work that the strikers refuse to do and insist that no one else do.

This is a nice concrete example of the absurdity of the Wagner Act and of the absurdity of the idea that prices and wages can be established by voting majorities. And the law protects them in the right to prevent other people from doing these jobs.

It is no wonder that business lacks confidence. Only men who know nothing about business would think of venturing savings under these conditions and they have no capital or credit.

FOLLIES OF LAWS, TO PROTECT MEN FROM COMPETITION

As we hear so much nowadays about the evil effects of the competitive system and the necessity of the government protecting individuals from competition, it might be well to quote what Louis D. Brandeis has to say on the eventual results that follow when people seek to protect themselves from competition.

"This asking for help from government for everything should be deprecated. It destroys the old and worthy sturdy principle of American life which existed in the beginning when men succeeded by their own efforts. This is what has led to the follies of the protective tariff and other laws to that end by which men seek to protect themselves from competition. Never before did I realize the rightfulness of the movement we stand for and to which all must flock if they will save themselves and save American civilization. What we need is peace, business peace. Let us have it and the people will work out their own salvation."

How long will we have to have ten million people out of work and how poor will we all have to get before we realize the truth of the above statement?

POISONER OF WELLS

If we could really throw the spot light on our political and educational leaders, who contend that pupils can have free schools and the workers do not have to pay for the schools, so that the public understood their incompetencies and their hypocracies, we would be performing a great service.

Former Congressman Samuel Pettengill says, "A political leader who promises to tax the worker to enrich the shirker, to plunder savings to give to the shiftless, is no better than a poisoner of wells."

And we are trying to do just that now, as a result of miseducation.

Celebrating The Anniversary Of Congress

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—One of the most active backers of SEC Chairman William O. Douglas for the Brandeis vacancy on the Supreme Court is a Republican—Senator William E. Borah.

The veteran Idaho liberal is drumming up support for Douglas all over the country—particularly on the Pacific Coast. Although Douglas was raised and educated in Washington state, friends of some other candidates charge that he is not a real Westerner, having lived his more mature life in the East.

To disprove this Borah is rallying Western endorsements for Douglas and has piled up an impressive list, particularly from businessmen and lawyers.

Borah is urging Douglas' appointment for two reasons: First, he says the brilliant young New Dealer is the ablest of those in the running; second, as a corporation and financial expert he is particularly fitted to succeed Brandeis, who was the Court's authority in these fields.

NOTE—Some of the most prominent West Coast newspapers are urging Douglas' selection.

Inner Circle Rivalry
The inner circle, which was unanimous behind Justice Felix Frankfurter, is divided regarding the successor to Brandeis.

Tommy Corcoran, Ben Cohen, and most of the other "down-town" militants are beating the drum for Douglas. Secretary Henry Wallace and Midwestern New Dealers are pulling wires for Wiley Blount Rutledge, outstanding dean of the Iowa University law school, while various administrationites in the Senate are rooting for Senator Louis Schwellenbach.

The rivalry is vigorous, but not acrimonious. The boys aren't calling each other names, but they are missing no bet to boost their candidates.

Garner's Aces
Star entertainer at the Vice President's dinner for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt was John Mulholland, noted magician.

In one of his sleight-of-hand feats, he asked Garner to take five cards from the pack, look at them and lay them face down on a table. Mulholland then placed a water tumbler on the cards and after a few moments told Garner to look at them again. The hand contained four aces.

Some of Garner's presidential promoters claimed the incident was symbolic, showed that the Vice President held all the trump cards for 1940. But Garner, himself, didn't take it that way. An inveterate poker player, he was more interested in the potentialities of combining poker and magic.

"Do you play poker much?" he asked Mulholland.
"No," was the reply, "I can't afford to. If I won, I would be accused of not being a gentleman, and if I lost I would be branded as a lousy magician."

Small Business
The investment banking section of the Securities and Exchange Commission soon will launch regional hearings on the capital problems of small businessmen, which will be one of the most important business moves ever made by the Administration.

Behind it is a plan to do for credit-starved small businessmen what Federal Housing has done so successfully for people who want to build homes—provide them with the necessary capital.

To this end, a little-noticed bill already has been introduced in Congress by Senator James Mead of New York and Representative Robert G. Allen of Pennsylvania. It has the warm support not only of Administration leaders, but also of such powerful businessmen as Arthur Whitehead, president of Dun & Bradstreet, and Prentiss L. Conley, head of the Business Advisory Council and brother of the president of the Manufacturers Association.

The bill is very simple. It would require the RFC to insure 80 per cent of loans, up to $1,000,000, made by banks to small businessmen—just as the FHA insures 80 per cent of loans made by banks to home builders. These loans would be secured by first mortgages on real estate, personal property or by debentures, would bear interest not to exceed 4 per cent, and would be amortized over a 7-year period.

Recent night conferences to promote the bill have featured statements from Burt L. Knowles, head of the Associated General Contractors of America; Tyne Taylor, president of the American Federation of Little Businessmen; and A. Barr Comstock, Boston attorney representing New England small business groups.

All were agreed that breaking the capital log-jam for the little fellows would do far more to improve business generally than large loans to big corporations. Knowles predicted, and was confirmed by Whitehead, that passage of the Mead-Allen bill would bring an immediate response of "at least 40,000 applications from small concerns now held down by lack of capital."

Jesse Jones
Chief worry in the otherwise promising picture is caused by the bulky shadow of Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC. For five years, Jesse has had authority plus hundreds of millions of dollars to lend to small businessmen. But while pouring millions into banks, railroads and high-pressure promotions he has been an unscrupulous penny-pincher toward the little fellows.

In fact, had Jones displayed the same open-handedness toward them that he has toward the big boys there would be no need today for the Mead-Allen bill. Moreover, there probably would not have been the same sourness in the nation's economy.

Some backers of the Mead-Allen bill are figuring that if the legislation is to be effective, Jones will have to be eased out of the RFC. Their present strategy is to persuade Roosevelt to "kick Jesse upstairs" to another job.

Whether this can be done remains to be seen. Of the two problems, passing the bill and unseating Jones, the latter is by far the toughest.

On the Loan Spot

Jesse Jones has been doing a lot of personal lobbying around Congress recently in order to get his Export-Import Bank extended for another two years. On one of his lobbying trips to Capitol Hill, a group of Senators invited Jesse to lunch with them, and he seized the opportunity to sell the idea of extending his bank.

Jesse Jones is both charming and loquacious. He talked at some length. And whenever he paused, Senator Mead, sitting at the other end of the table, would poke a long lean finger at him and say: "Do we get our small loans, Jesse? Do we get our loans?"

Before the luncheon was over, several Senators had joined almost in a chant: "Do we get our

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, March 7. — Ed Kelly, mayor of Chicago, just nominated by the Democrats, is visiting Miami on a double mission—rest from the care of office and to dedicate a plaque to his predecessor, Tony Cermak. Miami is the regular winter resting place of mayors and underworld leaders of Chicago, and Mr. Cermak was away on one of his frequent resting trips when he was martyred. He was almost a chain smoker, his vacations sometimes being separated only by nominal interruptions for affairs of state.

Considering that which happened to Mr. Cermak and how, a superearthy man in the place of Mr. Kelly might prefer to main on the job, which pays the not contemptible wage of $15,000 a year, with no deductions for tardiness or days absent, and all immune to the federal income tax and free of a state tax, that which Illinois has none. But the office of mayor of Chicago and Jersey City, while they might seem simpler, are much more exhausting than the same office in New York. Mr. La Guardia stays on the job the year around with the exception of a few hurried political trips looking toward the presidency and official missions to Washington. Mr. Hague, the millionaire mayor of Jersey City, who amassed vast wealth by humble frugality on a salary of $8,000 a year, finds it necessary to rest frequently at Palm Beach or in Europe. And Chicago mayors avoid mental and physical breakdown only by dragging themselves away from it for long periods. Perhaps Mr. La Guardia is just killing himself. Kelly and Hague are not and Tony Cermak wasn't aiming to.

The duality of Chicago homes and citizens and the underworld Chicago gamblers, grafters and racketeers long has imposed a dual office on the mayors. Of course, a mayor could announce that he was mayor of the official Chicago only and recognize the existence of no other Chicago. But it has not been done and when the underworld moved its winter capital to Miami back in the days of prohibition and prosperity the city government followed. That is why Mr. Cermak was a familiar figure there. He came down to maintain relations between his government and the men who operated the rackets in Chicago, and there has been no sharp break with tradition and custom since Mr. Kelly became mayor. So one assumes that his present trip to Miami is not intended solely as a rest.

But intention of the plaque to Tony Cermak is not quite clear. Obviously, if it is to acknowledge his services to the people of Chicago, then Chicago is the place for it and Miami is presumptuous. The people of Chicago know better than the people of Miami what sort of mayor Tony Cermak was, and if they have refrained from erecting monuments to him it was no mere negligence, but a positive comment on Tony Cermak by an informed people.

The plaque intended to honor Tony's unintentional interception of bullets which were meant for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president-elect? If so, why drag down loans, Jesse? Do we get our loans? NOTE—Jesse got his Export-Import Bank OK'd by Congress. It will now be interesting to see what he does about small businessmen's loans. (Cop. right, 1939, United Features Syn.)

Register Clearing House

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens:

Careful readers of "The Register" will have noticed the article in Thursday's issue on the $250,000 a year which alien relief is costing the country and will agree that the matter warrants careful consideration. Here are a few points to be kept in mind:

1. These "foreigners" are necessary to carry on the field and grove work in the county.
2. They must be kept alive while here and be given sufficient security to reproduce their kind.
3. This can be done in one of two ways:
a. By piecing out their earnings by public relief, as at present; or,
b. By paying them a living yearly wage for their work.

This second alternative could be accomplished only through a strong agricultural workers' union, which could strike for a living wage, if necessary.

4. Some relief to taxpayers could be obtained through taking advantage of federal grants for low-rent housing, under the Wagner-Steagall act. This plan could be put into action immediately by the supervisors. A simple resolution, establishing a county Housing Authority, and naming its five members, is all that is required.

5. We must remember that the aliens who are said to be here "illegally" are not here "lawlessly." The term is used simply to designate those unnaturalized aliens who came into the country during periods when no "legal" papers (passports, etc.) were required for entry. Those were, of course, periods of labor shortage. We brought them in to use them. We still need to use them. They must be supported somehow—by taxes or by wages. We can take our choice.

Yours, in the interest of solving a problem,
JULIA N. BUDLONG.

Fellow Citizens:

In the final analysis the Townsend Plan fails to make sense.

This O. A. R. P. proposes to increase business by penalizing all business transactions two dollars on the hundred. That sounds about as sensible as saying we could encourage motorists to jump boulevard stops by taxing them two dollars a jump.

Right here I want it made known that I am not ignorant of the Townsend Plan of forced spending. All of these two per cent transaction taxes are supposed to come back to the taxpayer many fold by this forced circulation through the various channels of trade. Which is just about as sensible as trying to console the fined motorists by telling them that fines force money into circulation faster; thus they will get a chance to spend it again just that much quicker.

Nor is it logical to expect an economic uplift by putting the nation's aged financial flops on the job at big public pay.

Besides being in poor economic order, this country could stand a lot of improvement in both public and private morals. But would it be sensible to suggest hiring and empowering prevaricators, plunderers, political profiteers, prostitutes, reprobates and moral failures of every classification to do the job. To hope for success, especially in a very difficult line of endeavor, only those who have shown the greatest strength along that particular line should be employed, certainly not those who have shown the greatest weakness. If a bridge had to be built at a point where several previous structures had failed, would it be sensible to turn the job over to builders who had been building bridges for themselves all their lives but none of their structures were successful.

The River of Economic Depression has never been successfully or permanently bridged by any human society. How foolish it would be to turn this difficult job over to those among us who, having had the good fortune of living a lifetime in a land of great economic opportunities, now find themselves facing the grave fact that they themselves are economic failures.

The folly of expecting to promote prosperity by placing more millions of the nation's weaklings on the public payroll is further reflected by the fact that our economic ailments would ease up a lot if private production were not already overburdened with the support of too many feather-headed, feeble-minded, fanatical, and non-productive pensioners on the public payroll already. Nor does the fact that these prosperity-repelling pensioners pose as necessary public servants make the burden of their support any easier on the producing public.

The pensioners under the O. A. R. P. are also posing, or are intending to pose, as very essential public servants. They are to be officially known as annuitants. The only action necessary to keep them eligible to continue in office is to spend and/or waste, as the case may be, some $200 each month. It is this spending and wasting that is supposed to make the country prosperous.

The reason these aged are crying so loudly for pensions today is because they have spent or wasted too much money during their lifetime. The vast number of present public pensioners and all other public pay receivers, also everyone on private pay are keeping their incomes spent in practically up to the last dollar. And to climax this great American wealth wasting spree the New Deal has been spending and wasting billions of both tax raised and borrowed money for the past six years in futile efforts to restore the prosperity that was lost by too much spending and wasting.

This Townsend plan is a highly exaggerated parody on the New Deal's discordant, over-played and tiresome tune, "Spending for Prosperity" which could be more harmoniously rendered, "Spending to Spread Poverty."

A dispatch from Washington says that Secretary Morgenthau has told a Congressional Committee that the national debt will soon reach 50 billion dollars.

Just what, if anything, do these figures mean to the American people? Have we lost our sense of realization? Can't we understand what 50 billion dollars mean? Are there no words that can bring us to our senses?

It seems very clear that one startling fact is that we have not yet felt its impact. The money is coming largely from bank deposits created against the government's deficit, and from institutions which can find safe outlets for their funds and yet must earn such returns as they can obtain. The common man is not buying government securities nor is he feeling the pressure of taxation which this debt should now be exerting upon him. These burdens will come later. Then he will howl. But now is the time to realize that the burdens are coming.

Warnings in every form have been issued, but they have failed to arouse people. Words have lost their force. It has been pointed out repeatedly that the various trust funds of the government have been tossed into the great maw which is consuming not only this nation's present savings but the savings of generations to come. The social security funds have been tossed in too; the funds of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation have gone down the same yawning hole. And yet the American people sleep on just as though these things were non-existent.

It is a far cry back to the economy pledges of 1932-1933 and the warnings against governments being wrecked on the rocks of loose fiscal policies. Our Federal Administration does not talk about sound fiscal policies any more. The subject is avoided just as a family avoids discussing a great disgrace which has befallen it. There is a silent recognition in government circles that administrative virtue and integrity regarding sound fiscal policies have disappeared. Have we not all seen people laugh and joke and create some diversion to avoid discussion of a painful topic? Have we not all seen people even attempt to convert a disgrace into some sort of virtue?

It is precisely these things that our government has been doing. It has created issues and excitement to keep the people diverted. It has the effrontery to claim great virtues for the mounting debt. Even Secretary Morgenthau now says this 50 billion dollar debt is "without danger to the country's financial structure." When he joins those who are now chanting the lack of danger and even the virtues in this mounting debt, where shall we look for sanity?

The present Administration has demonstrated that it knows practically nothing but spend and spend. Its solution to every problem is to spend more money. Stated in simple but accurate terms, it is a spendthrift and irresponsible Administration. It has lost its sense of values. It calls every difficulty an "emergency" which requires more spending; it has no other solution; it does not know the proper answer. It has lost control of the situation and of itself, and it knows it. It blames everybody and everything but itself. It is irritable and confused. As painful circumstances press in on it, the demand is for more money, more spending, more debt—and always in the name of humanity!

Persistent and heavy unemployment, millions of people on relief, more money into the great yawning maw—that is now the daily story. There is no plan, no program, to stop. Insistent public protest would stop it!

MASS WISDOM
(New York World Telegram)

We think and hope, we see signs that President Roosevelt's excursion into secret diplomacy will prove brief. And that he will fall back on the philosophy which he himself so ably expressed in Chautauqua, N. Y., August 14, 1936, when he said:

"But all the wisdom of America is not to be found in the White-House or in the Department of State; we need the mediation, the prayer and the positive support of the American people who go along with us in seeking peace."

Or, as Talleyrand put it:—"There is one person who knows more than anybody—and that is everybody."

Democracy is founded on that idea.

and other countries close to the Mexican border stopped almost entirely when the Federal government in 1933 enforced a policy of extending relief to aliens. Now that the Federal government no longer controls the policy of SRA, it would be possible to return to the policy in effect prior to 1933, by which aliens could not qualify for relief.

Attention was called to the fact that between 1930 and 1933 the Orange county welfare department sent 1543 Mexican aliens back to their native country through voluntary repatriation, and that after the policy of extending relief to aliens was established, only 50 Mexican aliens have been returned to their native land in the voluntary repatriation movement in the past six years.

See Out of 14 Million

"We have been advised," the letter said, "that the Mexican government is making plans to facilitate the return of a considerable number of their citizens who are now in Southern California. This would be on the basis of voluntary repatriation, we are informed. It is not likely that the aliens who are obtaining relief will consent to return to their native land. As a first and absolutely necessary step to assist in bringing about their repatriation, we sincerely urge that you issue an order against the extension of relief to aliens.

"We also urge the restoration of liens against property of relief recipients. We understand that this would effect approximately $150,000,000 worth of property owned by old-age pensioners, with a resultant decrease of approximately $14,000,000 annually in pension costs. This action would result in no reduction of pension payments, but would correct a condition which is entirely for the benefit of the heirs of pensioners."

chin. Zaharias was an unpopular winner.

"Gorilla" Macias was awarded a verdict in the 45-minute semi-wrap up with the Mexican having the one and only fail in the bout with "Cockney" McDonald. Referee Varga allowed McDonald to stomp on Macias' face and arms until the blood dripped merrily after Macias got out in front. Casey Colombo beat Mike Strehlich with a figure-four toe-hold in 10 m. 54 s. This was the only REAL wrestling bout on the card. Hans Schultz laid Killa Shikuma among the daisies with a right to the whiskers and a body press in 15 m. 42 s.

a trainload of Chicago office-holders to witness the rite? Why erect a plaque at all? A man doesn't get a plaque for accidental death, and nobody has been heard to assert that Tony stepped in front of those bullets purposefully. He was, in fact, trying to grab Mr. Roosevelt's ear for a few words on behalf of deserving Democrats and other Chicago racketeers and possibly finding Mr. Roosevelt slightly deaf, considering that Tony just barely caught the tailboard of the bandwagon in the convention not so many months before.

Is it not more likely, considering known facts, established custom and the moral tone of Chicago politics, that this mission combines against the official government and representatives of underworld and comes to arrange co-operation in the election next month?

If plaques are to be raised to martyrs, Al Capone would be a more deserving subject. Mr. Capone is one of the living dead and his condition is chargeable to his immurement and treatment on Alcatraz, the soundproof prison. It wasn't because he was rude that Capone went to Alcatraz. On Alcatraz he couldn't talk to reformers, reporters or rival politicians. Capone suffered more than Tony and his long passion and consequent lunacy obliterated crimes of many Chicagoans, including, no doubt, some in the present delegation.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

Cravat, who lost considerable prestige by his performance Saturday, is a top liner at a mile and a half—taken to top form. But he certainly failed to run to top form in the 100 grander. Many horsemen contend that he was shipped out here too late, and that horses, after making such a long ship, will run their best race the first time out. Certainly he didn't come close to running back to his race in the San Antonio when he finished a flying fourth. He did not fly Saturday.

Bert Baroni's Specify is being whipped back into action, but it would seem somewhat optimistic to picture him going a mile-and-a-half successfully when he failed to cut it going a mile-and-a-quarter.

With Specify and Whichever in there burning up the course, the first part of the race may be the Santa Anita all over again. Entered also are Advocate, Kayak II (but he isn't going), Galapas, Jacala, Star Shadow, No Dice, Count Arthur, Today, Gosum, War Minstrel, Melodist, Masker, Ossabaw, Quick Devil, Olimpo, Stands Alone, Rhinoh, Falerno, Pageboy, Parscourt, Warfellow, Our Dream, Amor Brujo, Count Atlas, Honey Cloud, Frexo, Mr. Vernon 2nd, Wing and Wing, Flying Lee, White Sand, Tobacco Road and African Queen.

The California-bred Championship tomorrow is a weight-for-age affair at a mile and an eighth. Real Clear, a consistent hard hitting mare, may rule the favorite. She runs coupled as the Teresa Loeff entry, aided by Bubbling Boy. The Loeff stable made a strategic move in buying Bubbling Boy. They plan to utilize his speed to smother the front-running Brown Jade and Lymbilly.

Taken by and large, nothing about the California-bred stakes has improved much except the purses. The field tomorrow brings forth no new star, and doesn't look any better than the one last year, or the year before. Perhaps not as good.

for the great Joe DiMaggio. "Just before the minor league meeting started in my old home town, Clark Griffith wrote that I had done all right in Washington and wouldn't be disposed of," explains the banana merchant.

National League Handed Magnificent Attraction Bonura wouldn't go to Detroit for more than he was paid in Washington because he couldn't play regularly.

With Henry Greenberg about, Del Baker wanted Bonura as a pinch-hitter, and obviously money was no object.

But Bonura gets fat enough without sitting in the dugout, and insists that he couldn't play that way, anyway.

So one of the sport's more magnetic attractions... a home run hitter who annually swats in more than 100 runs and makes a habit of leading first basemen in fielding... was handed to the opposition.

Bonura should be a wow in the Polo Grounds, provided he can hit low pitches sure to be fed him by National League deceivers. As Luke Sewell explained, Bill Klem, Dolly Stark, Babe Pinelli, Beans Reardon, and the other National League men in blue see those low pitchers on the side of the pitcher.

But other hitters have learned to hit low, and big Zeke Bonura has mastered many trying athletic problems in college and professional baseball.

New York Stocks

Mar. 7, 1939

Stocks advanced in the first part of a quiet session today but reacted from the highs.

Most of the list retained part of the early gains. Bonds had a good day, featured by a rise to record highs by ten of the 19 traded U. S. government issues. Commodities were mixed in a narrow range. Wheat was unchanged to 1/4 cent a bushel higher. Copper futures were firm, while steel losses were noted in cotton, hides and rubber.

Favorable market factors included indications the short sale rule might be modified; rising car loadings; good sales gains by chain store units; and Secretary Morgenthau's statement that "we in the treasury want to make recovery lasting."

A better market was noted for steel issues. Bethlehem touched 7 1/4, up 1/4, and U. S. Steel 6 1/4, up 1/4. Part of the gains was erased.

Improvement in demand for copper metal aided copper shares. Their gains, ranging to nearly a point in Anaconda, were whittled down late in the session. Gold mining issues continued strong.

Automobile issues declined after Chrysler had touched 8 1/2, up 1/2. Motor and accessory issues were better, and rubbers had gains ranging to more than a point in U. S. rubber preferred.

ORANGE, March 5.—Pete Sargado, 18, 418 North Cypress street, received a deep cut in his leg and was severely bruised when the front wheel of his motor cycle caught in the back fender of a car driven by Mrs. Adlee Deano, 117 West Palm street, on South Cypress street yesterday afternoon. He was given first aid treatment and was taken to his home. The car was not damaged.

ORANGE, March 7.—One hundred and three young people attended the annual skating party of the Presbyterian young people, Monday night at a Long Beach skating rink. Betty Gelker was chairman of the affair, and the high school young people were hosts to both intermediate and college age groups.

In skating, Barbara Smith was awarded first prize as the best girl skater, and Charles Bell the prize as best boy skater. A number of the church members furnished transportation for the large group.

ORANGE, March 7. — J. S. Hare, Ventura, reported to police yesterday that a brown overcoat, a pair of brown gloves, a woman's navy blue sweater, red and white muffler and a box containing papers and a number of small tools, had been taken from his car parked near the Orange theater the night previous. Hare stated that the persons taking the articles had attempted to force the lock on the trunk in the rear and that he had opened a window of the car to get in it.

ORANGE, March 7.—Celebrating the 41st birthday of the chapter, Scepter chapter, Order of the Eastern Star will give a 6:30 dinner preceding the regular meeting Thursday evening.

Mrs. Sherman Gillogly heads the dinner committee, and reservations are necessary. A birthday program will also feature the meeting, which will be presided over by Worthy Matron Iva Reeves Lee and Worthy Patron Joe Rowley.

Fred Catlin of Los Angeles, went Thursday, at his "Nest a pest" cabin in the Hough tract. Mr. and Mrs. James Stone of Modena, recently purchased Hough tract lot, from Miss Eva Emaray, and plan to build immediately.

ORANGE, March 7.—Antique and modern glassware, silver and china were exhibited at the Orange Woman's clubhouse yesterday afternoon when a talk on "Silver, China and Glass" was given by Edgar Harrison Wileman of Los Angeles. The speaker told of the meanings of such words as "sterling" and "hall mark silver" and gave directions for determining the origin and age of silverware.

In speaking of china, Wileman told of the immense pottery factories in Los Angeles where the tunnel kiln is used, replacing an old world method of firing china and pottery at a great saving of time. Don Blanding, California poet and artist, has drawn decorations for china of a new design, shortly to make its appearance, the speaker stated. Other designs have been drawn by Rockwell Kent, it was brought out. Glass with some very lovely examples of Swedish art, American crystal,
